British Troops Withdraw to Prepared Positions West of Brussels to Prevent Pincer Movement Of German Column in France—Nothing At Present Moment to Cause Dismay

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—The War Office tonight announced that British troops had withdrawn to prepared positions west of Brussels, but that the readjustment had been carried out without interference.

The public was called upon to keep "stout hearts and cool heads."

"Britain has faced tests like this before," said an authoritative source.

NO COLLAPSE

The War Office declared there was "no question of collapse of break-through" in the Brussels sector, where Allied and Belgian troops had fought bitterly to halt the Germans east of the city, in the vicinity of Louvain.

"During the night of May 16-17, certain adjustments to the front having become necessary, the B.E.F. was withdrawn to positions west of Brussels," it said. "This readjustment was carried out without interference."

Following the strategic withdrawal, British troops now are dug in along a canal which runs to the south of the Belgian capital.

EXPLAIN WITHDRAWAL

The reason for the withdrawal was said to be that the Allied command had foreseen some days ago that the

URGES SPEED IN WAR AID

Vancouver North Member Appeals for Immediate Mobilization

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Appeals to the Government and Parliament to speed up Canada's war effort and, at the same time, to provide against after-war problems, were heard in the House of Commons today from two young members, who moved and seconded the Address in Reply to the Speech From the Throne.

"Measures should be taken to permit re-establishment in normal life of those who were not afraid to compromise their future to serve the cause of justice and defend a threatened civilization," said Hughes Lapointe (Liberal, Lotbiniere), moving the Address.

James Sinclair (Liberal, Vancouver North) said Canada should "mobilize with ruthless speed every resource of this vast country," in order that the Allies might receive sorely-needed war materials.

ASKS FOR INFORMATION

A dramatic interlude occurred before the Address was moved when the Opposition leader, Hon. R. B. Hanson, asked the Prime Minister if he had any information on the grave war news which reached Ottawa in the early afternoon.

Mr. King read an official communique which stated German forces had penetrated the Allied lines and

CANADIANS WIN FLYING AWARDS

Three From Dominion in R.A.F. Decorated for Outstanding Gallantry

LONDON, May 18 (CP).—Three Canadians are among a large group of Royal Air Force flyers decorated for outstanding "gallantry and devotion to duty," the Air Ministry announced today.

Distinguished Flying Crosses have been awarded to Flying Officer Gordon Learmouth Raphael, of Brantford, Ont.; Acting Flight Lieutenant Nelles Woods Timmerman, of Kingston, Ont., and Pilot Officer Lawrence Latham Jones, of Saskatoon.

Timmerman was the pilot of an aircraft returning to its base when an enemy aircraft was seen to fly past in the opposite direction. Timmerman immediately turned and gave chase. After a salvo of shots from his front gun he shot the enemy down into the sea. Earlier in April he successfully attacked two enemy patrol vessels, destroying at least one of them.

SAVES AIRCRAFT

Jones was the second pilot and navigator of a flying boat engaged on a special mission to Norway in April. During the temporary absence of the captain after a landing had been made, Jones assumed command and successfully manoeuvred his aircraft on the water to avoid intense bombing attacks by enemy aircraft.

Subsequently it became necessary to take off and as his plane left the water Jones was attacked by an enemy fighter. By skillful tactics he brought his tail guns to bear on the enemy plane and shot it down.

CLEARING ENEMY FROM THEIR PATH

Allied Troops Pressing Forward on The Advance to Narvik—Germans Retreating

ON THE NARVIK FRONT, Norway, May 17 (CP-Havas).—Allied troops pressed forward tonight to clear enemy forces from the last bit of German-held territory blocking the Allies' path to Narvik.

Intensive operations were reported from the Stordal, where the Allies are working to intercept an enemy retreat toward Sweden.

The bulk of the German force, partly encircled by the Allied troop landings at Bjerkvik, seven miles north of Narvik, was reported retreating into the mountainous country to the east.

Narrow Rombaks Fjord is the last hurdle to be cleared on the Allies' drive into Narvik.

Terrific R.A.F. Raids Hamper Advance of German Columns and Cripple Enemy Communications —Air Ministry Estimates Nazi Plane Losses At 1,000 in Week's Offensive Operations

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—The Royal Air Force tonight continued its relentless bombing of enemy communications to hamper the advance of German columns, and the Air Ministry announced the Nazis had lost more than 1,000 aircraft since the invasion of the Low Countries was launched, May 10.

Heavy damage was caused by bombing raids on communications in Western Germany, on mechanized columns, tanks, transports and gasoline reserves, the Ministry stated.

It derided the German claim Allied aircraft losses have numbered 1,462 machines, saying that the German High Command "must have published their own loss in error." The Allied losses have been only a small fraction of the German claims.

HAS CONSIDERABLE RESERVES

The estimate of German loss was based on careful study of all sources of information, the Ministry said, but it warned that the enemy's reserves "are considerable and they

Key Buildings In Britain to Be Barricaded

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—A stout barricade of barbed wire was thrown around the grey stone Admiralty Building today. Khaki-clad soldiers with bayonetted rifles sloped across their shoulders, marched at sentry duty at its few traffic entrances.

It was understood barbed wire protection will be established around other key Government buildings.

A night and day military guard was established during the day about Broadcasting House, home of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

COOK GIVEN PARDON

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt has granted Dr. Frederick A. Cook, explorer who claimed to have discovered the North Pole, a full pardon, it was announced today. Cook, seriously ill in United Hospital at Port Chester, N.Y., was convicted in 1923 of using the mails to defraud, was sentenced to prison for fourteen years and nine months and fined $12,000. He was paroled in 1930. He is seventy-four.

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Defence, returned from overseas today to receive a thumping ovation in the House of Commons and face the task of assisting in directing the nation's war effort in the light of latest developments in the zone of hostilities.

He found the Canadian troops and airmen training in England in good condition and was impressed with the high regard entertained for Canada's war activities in the United Kingdom.

Refugees Give Grim Accounts of German Attacks on Civilians

Survivors of Bombed Belgian Liner Reach London With Others From Belgium—Nazis Merciless in Their Ruthless Air Raids

LONDON, March 17 (AP).—The Belgian liner Ville de Bruges was a "hoodoo" vessel from the time she left New York until she became a battered, burning wreck at the mouth of the River Scheldt near Antwerp, Canadian survivors of the bombed ship said tonight.

The 13,689-ton ship, formerly the United States liner President Harding, was bombed by a German plane after leaving Antwerp with fifty families of refugees from war-engulfed Belgium.

The survivors told of the deaths of two Canadian and two Belgian seamen during the bombing. The Canadians killed were identified as David Dunn, about fifty-three, of Hamilton, Ont., and Daniel Duffy, formerly of Montreal.

While company officials were silent at the request of authorities, crewmen who asked to remain anonymous asserted that misfortunes started a day out of New York, from where the ship sailed after being sold to a Belgian company, when an unnamed seaman died

FRENCH HURL FURIOUS COUNTER-ATTACKS TO HALT ADVANCE OF GERMAN COLUMN

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1940, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, May 17 (By Cable).—It is now or never, for the German invaders, says The Times' military correspondent, who explains that fighting is in progress all the way from the Dutch islands, including Walcheren, right across Belgium, from Antwerp through Louvain, where the British are engaged, to Sedan, where the Germans have smashed some distance into France and on to Longwy on the Maginot Line.

British troops, says the correspondent, have been in action near Waterloo and have repelled German attacks, but these were not as powerful as those delivered in the great battle of the Meuse Valley farther south. Here an intense conflict is raging from Dinant to Sedan and southwest of Mezieres the situation is very serious for the Allies, but by no means irreparable.

Enemy armored columns penetrated deeply into French fortified positions, exploiting mechanized forces recklessly and pushing along roads unsupported by infantry or artillery.

It has become obvious that the Nazis are throwing all their available resources in aircraft and armored vehicles into the battle.

If the Allies, adds The Times' military expert, can withstand this rain of blows by armaments so much heavier than their own, the enemy effort is never likely to be repeated on the same scale. But it will require unlimited resolution and sacrifice even to check the impetus and advance.

The Nazis are now trying to break the Dutch forces' resistance in the islands of Zeeland province. The enemy is trying to cross to Flushing, on Walcheren Island and fighting is continuing. The Germans are looting Holland of food, fats, metal and the whole population has been disarmed on threat of death.

Better reports come from Italy and the tension has somewhat relaxed in Switzerland. Crowds in Milan have demonstrated in favor of France and against war.

The Italian minister in Yugoslavia and Greece have assured the Governments in Belgrade and Athens that Mussolini has no aggressive intentions towards them. Hungary is mobilizing steadily, apparently against Slovakia's treatment of the Hungarian minority. Reports that Greece has moved troops to the borders of Albania are not true.

CROSS SEA TO ESCAPE NAZIS

Two Refugees Are Machine-Gunned While Fleeing Holland in Open Boat

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—Two refugees from Holland, one a young Dutch actress, and the other a forty-six-year-old Briton, who lost a leg in the last war, arrived here today after crossing the treacherous North Sea in an open, sixteen-foot boat powered by an outboard motor.

The pair, Ilona Ricardo and Ernest Judd, said they were machine-gunned by a German warplane during the 125-mile crossing, but escaped by "playing dead."

They were picked up by a British collier as they neared the English coast.

COMMANDEERS TINY BOAT

Judd was visiting in Ymuiden when the Germans invaded Holland. Fearing he would be sent to a concentration camp if captured by the Germans, he commandeered a tiny boat, intended for use on the Dutch canals, and put out to sea with eight gallons of gasoline and a pocket compass. Miss Ricardo decided at the last minute to go with him.

"No sooner had we got into the open sea," Judd said, "than a German plane began to machine-gun us. I stopped the engine and lay down in the bottom of the boat, shamming death. The German must have thought he'd finished us off for he circled the boat once and flew away. One bullet just grazed a finger on my right hand."

FLOODED WITH QUERIES

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—The Government was flooded today with queries from private members concerning manifold aspects of the war effort. More than fifty inquiries were listed in the House votes and proceedings and more probably will be included in each daily issue.

BELGIUM IS UNDISMAYED

Government Moves to Ostend—Nazis Repulsed—Liege Forts Hold

OSTEND, Belgium, May 17 (CP-Havas).—Undismayed by removal of the Government from Brussels, Belgium pinned unshaken faith tonight on the courage of Belgian and Allied troops now locked in battle with the German Army across the breadth of the country.

With King Leopold personally commanding the Belgian Army, his Government and people adopted the motto, "Remember 1914!" The picture is black, Government spokesmen said, but far from hopeless.

Official communiques issued "somewhere in Belgium" carried details of military operations through yesterday.

ACCORDING TO PLAN

"Our troops methodically carried out the movements provided for in our plan of operations," it said. "On the afternoon of May 16 a regiment of chasseurs, participating in the defence of a canal, especially distinguished itself by repulsing German units which attempted to cross it on pontoon bridges. The enemy suffered heavy losses."

Increases Funds For U.S. Defences

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—Increasing President Roosevelt's extraordinary defence programme by $50,000,000, a Senate sub-committee tonight approved a $1,694,877,724 outlay on the United States Army in the next fiscal year—an expenditure that would shatter all peacetime records.

Chairman Thomas (Dem., Okla.) said the committee decided to make funds available so that a fully-equipped force of 280,000 men, about 25,000 more than the President had suggested, could be put in the field.

REPORT GERMANS USING EIGHTY-TON TANKS

PARIS, May 18 (AP).—The spearheads of Germany's mechanized attacks into France, were reported today to be eighty-ton tanks armored to resist guns of every calibre short of the French seventy-five-millimetre field piece. The newspaper L'Epoque, which carried the report, said these giant machines clattered ahead of darting whippet tanks—light, fast machines—and armored cars that mopped up in their wake.

"Conquer or Die," the Order Issued by Commander-in-Chief of Allied Forces in France —Week-Old Offensive on Western Front Is Brought to Peak of Intensity

Tanks in Small Numbers Strike Out Far From Bases

PARIS, May 18 (AP).—Spurred by the order of General Maurice Gustave Gamelin to "conquer or die," the French army unleashed furious counter-attacks today, seeking to draw a hangman's knot about the ponderous advance of heavy German tanks into Northern France.

In wooded ravines and open fields of the sector bounded by Avesnes, Vervins, Rethel and Sedan, the French closed in by land and air, trying to strangle the Nazi thrust west of the Meuse. The Germans advanced forward of their supply bases, which Allied warplanes bombed incessantly.

A DESPERATE TRY

The violent action came with the dawn of the ninth day of the advance of the German legions into Belgium and France in a desperate try for a decisive victory.

Friday, the Allied High Command called the clash in Northern France a "veritable melee."

Hitler's invaders carried their week-old offensive on the Western Front to a peak during yesterday with violent attacks in Belgium and France in a desperate effort to drive home a victory.

The German thrust through Belgium struck at Brussels, from which King Leopold's Government moved to Ostend, on the North Sea.

The drive into France was directed through a pocket carved out of the battle-scarred northern plains.

GAMELIN'S ORDER

"The fate of the Fatherland, that of our Allies and the destiny of the world depends on the battle in course," General Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the Allied forces, said in an order of the day.

"British, Belgian and Polish soldiers and foreign volunteers are fighting at our side. British aviation is fighting to the end, like ours.

"Any unit which cannot advance should permit itself to be killed on the spot rather than abandon an inch of the native soil which has been entrusted to it.

"WE MUST CONQUER!"

"As always, at grave hours of our history, the word of the order is today: 'Conquer or die! We must conquer!' "

French troops barring the way took their stand around the Sedan-Rethel-Sambre triangle, driven thirty-five to forty miles into France after the German break through the Meuse front.

The Germans attacked on the west side of this bulge around Avesnes and Vervins, roughly ten and fifteen miles from the Belgian border, striving to take control of the main northern highways.

The bulk of the Germans' heavy tank divisions lumbered into the fray following armored cars and whippet tanks which led the advance.

FAR FROM BASES

French advices from the front said the giant machines were striking out in small numbers, driving far from their bases in defiance of old-established military laws for protecting the flanks of advancing forces.

How far they had progressed tonight could not be determined.

German planes took over the task of protecting the armored advanced forces and tangled with Allied aviation in innumerable dogfights.

British pursuit planes alone were reported to have downed 157 German planes over the Western Front since the German invasion started last Friday. Twenty-one of them were accounted for today.

French planes attacked the rear of the enemy motorized forces.

The Paris municipal council issued a notice to its population, now included in the army zone, declaring "everything necessary has been

MONTEVIDEO, May 18 (AP).—All twenty-one American republics have approved a joint declaration protesting German invasions of neutral countries, Uruguayan officials said today, later adding specifically that the United States had agreed to its terms.

The declaration, drafted by Uruguay, was approved after Chili and Nicaragua communicated unreserved approvals.

Consequently, the Panama Government informed Uruguay the text of the declaration would be made public at Panama tomorrow afternoon.

EARTHQUAKE IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, May 17 (AP).—A sharp earthquake was felt in sections of metropolitan Los Angeles at 9.05 o'clock tonight and lasted for a few seconds. No damage was reported. The shock extended southward as far as San Diego.

GREECE CALLS UP ANOTHER 60,000

More Troops to Be Sent to Albanian Border Where Italians Are Massed

ATHENS, Greece, May 18 (AP).—The War Ministry early today called to the colors the 1935 military class. The class, composed of men twenty-six years old, will report on May 25.

It was announced that the class, reported to number 60,000, was called for a month's training "in the use of new weapons."

Informed military observers said most of the class would be sent to the border of Italian-occupied Albania to swell the already large number of Greek troops manning fortifications facing Italian forces on the other side.

Simultaneously, Premier John Metaxas held long conferences with the Yugoslav and Rumanian Ambassadors. Alexander Vukcevic, the Yugoslav envoy, sounded out Metaxas last Tuesday on what assistance Yugoslavia could expect from Greece in the event of an Italian attack.

Turkish Delegation Sees Fine Military Show at Aldershot

Visitors Deeply Impressed by Display of Imperial And Canadian Troops—General McNaughton In Temporary Command of the Area

ALDERSHOT, May 17 (CP).—A graphic panorama depicting the latent might of Britain was unfolded today before the eyes of a distinguished Turkish military and political delegation during an eight-hour tour of the Aldershot area as guests of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the Canadian First Division, who is temporarily in command of the area.

From morning until dusk the delegation motored and walked over fifty miles amid an army in the making.

Every phase of army training, armament and equipment was on parade. Thousands of bronzed Canadians and Imperial warriors marched in review, went through full-dress tactical exercises or displayed their prowess on the ranges. It was the most imposing demonstration staged in the area since the outbreak of war and left a deep impression on the visitors.

ADMIRATION REDOUBLED

"We have always had the greatest admiration for our British allies and what we have seen today has redoubled that admiration," said Bay Yalcin, member of the Turkish Parliament and leader of the delegation.

"It has also given us particular pleasure to have seen your fine Canadian soldiers."

In the day's crowded programme, Canadians played a prominent part. The crack Edmonton Regiment started the "show" with a display of mortar practice. Under the command of Major H. F. Seymour, the 4th Field Company of the Royal Canadian Engineers, Montreal, gave a realistic demonstration of bridge building, fording streams and well drilling.

MARCH IN REVIEW

Lieut.-Col. J. E. Slessor's Royal Montreal Regiment was singled out for inspection and later marched in review past the delegation. Gunners of the 1st Anti-Tank Regiment from Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec and Fredericton hauled their guns into position and had them in action thirty-five seconds after the command was given by Lieut.-Col. G. W. F. Johnston.

Finally, as the party was strolling through a field of entrenchments, the entire Canadian 2nd Infantry Brigade hove into sight on a route march. Brigadier G. R. Pearkes, Calgary, broke away from the column and took up his position with the visitors along the dusty road as seasoned men of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Seaforth Highlanders headed by kilted pipers, and the Edmonton Regiment marched along in full battle kit.

MOTORIZED ATTACK

As a grand finale the Turks were treated to a motorized attack along the broad floor of a sandy valley. Tanks and Bren gun carriers pounded toward their objectives. Planes roared overhead.

The most interested spectator of the display was General Fefet Bele, who defended Gaza against the Allies after the last war.

"Methods and machinery of war may change, but principles never," he said. "Why there go Hannibal's elephants all over again," pointing to the lumbering tanks.

"Yes, we were adversaries once, but I do not think we were ever enemies," he said of relations between Turkey and Britain.

NEW BUILDING IS UNDER WAY

Apartment Bungalow to Be Erected at Cost of $25,000 By Sir Ernest Petter

Sir Ernest W. Petter, Comox, secured a $25,000 city building permit yesterday for a new type of apartment bungalow to be erected by Green Brothers on property bounded by Fairfield Road, Lillian Road and Beechwood Avenue. Hubert Savage is the architect.

Measuring 200 by 200 feet, the building will have ten suites, some with one and some with two bedrooms. Each suite will have a fireplace, latest model gas range and water heater and individual hot water heating plant. Floors will be of fir and oak. Plumbing will be installed by W. H. Martin.

The exterior of the building will be in English cottage style with stucco and half-timbering. Duroid shingles in blended colors will cover the roof. Contracts call for completion of the apartment bungalow by the middle of September. It will contain ten garages and two stores.

SITUATION SERIOUS BUT NOT CRITICAL

German column which now has penetrated into France could swing to the northwest, toward the sea, and attempt a pincer movement crushing the former British position.

It was stated that while the situation is serious it is far from critical.

Looking broadly at the situation that has developed in the past week, since the Nazis invaded Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg, authoritative quarters in London emphasize there is nothing at the moment to cause dismay, but clear vision backed by courage and determination, "not blurred by false optimism on the part of the public," is needed more than ever.

ANTICIPATE SHOCKS

"Shocks may occur," it was explained, "but the Government are certain the people will prepare themselves to face any test with nerves of steel."

In asking that the public keep stout hearts and cool heads, an official source said:

"On what happens in the next few days may depend the future of Europe: Britain has faced tests like this before and can face them again. There must, however, be no illusion about the fact that we now are facing the first stages of the most tremendous battle in the history of the world."

There is doubt in high places here that the Nazis will be able to keep up the terrific pace of the past week. Already there is reason to believe her armored divisions almost have outrun their vital petrol supplies.

REFUGEES GIVE GRIM ACCOUNTS

Then, as the Ville de Bruges neared Europe, her engines broke down for several days and she had to be towed into Falmouth, England. Subsequently Duffy was stricken with a mysterious illness. Then came the bombing.

One old salt said: "I guess changing her name placed a curse on her."

About fifty of the sixty-three Canadian survivors, who reached London by train with hundreds of other refugees today, were dressed in an amazing assortment of clothes. They had lost all their possessions. Husky seamen were dressed in rainbow-colored jumpers, blue denim overalls, ill-fitting peasant clothes supplied by the kindly people of Antwerp and one even wore a swanky green silk blouse.

ONLY HALF OVER

The adventure was only half over for the seamen when they got ashore from the bombed ship. They made their way to Ostend by truck and rail.

"We had been at Ostend what seemed only a couple of minutes when German bombers swooped over the city," said one crewman. "We all ducked for shelter, but far as I learned no bombs were dropped."

All refugees told of ruthless attacks either in the Low Countries or on the rescue ship that brought them to Britain.

Telling how German planes repeatedly attacked the fleeing groups, an Irish priest, member of a party of five from St. Anthony's College in Tournai, Belgium, said mothers had crouched over their sleeping children to act as living shields.

H. J. W. Brean, a young Englishman who had been living in Antwerp, said:

"Even refugee trains are being bombed. All windows were smashed by bombs which fell near the station. Another plane swept the street with machine gun fire.

"One plane went for the hotel which was being used as an evacuation office. The Germans obviously thought that people would be crowded in the grounds, which they riddled with bullets."

NUNS LEAVE CONVENTS

Two Catholic sisters, members of the Ursuline Order, reported that 170 nuns were evacuated from their convents in Belgium. Sick women were among them. Hundreds of laymen who had taken refuge there also fled.

"As Britons," said one of the Nuns, "we are proud of the wonderful work the Navy has done to rescue refugees, and we express our gratitude to them."

Jury Finds Motor Crash Accidental

NANAIMO, May 17.—"We are unable to attach blame to any person or persons" a coroner's jury stated in a verdict, after investigating the death of William Scott Atkinson and Fritz Anderson, killed when a car and truck collided, May 11, near South Wellington, driven by Atkinson and Jimmy Jones, of Ladysmith. Evidence showed Jones, driver of the truck, was traveling at thirty-five miles an hour and on his right side of the road.

BELGIUM IS UNDISMAYED

The Brussels radio stated that the "Liege forts are still holding out."

Defence Minister Henru Denis said in a broadcast: "The situation is reassuring. We must beware of our nerves and of the nerves of badly-informed persons."

Transfer of the Government from Brussels to Ostend was announced tonight in a speech by Interior Minister Pieters Van der Poorten.

FOOT BY FOOT

"The Allied troops are fighting foot by foot," he said. "At various points, according to the command's plans, they are vigorously counter-attacking.

"After several days of war we face a situation which, without being as grave, in some respects recalls that of the first weeks of the 1914-18 war. We will soon witness, I am convinced, the same re-establishment as then."

The beautiful, but not too intelligent girl was on her first cruise. As she was standing on the deck looking out over the Atlantic, a sailor passed by.

"Oh, please," said the girl, "where is the captain of this ship?"

"He's forward, Miss," answered the sailor.

"Oh, that's all right," she giggled. "After all, this is a pleasure trip."

Robust Health For Young People

What a common sight it is to see a young person whose bloodless face and feeble frame are evidence of poor circulation and weakness where bounding health and rosy cheeks should reign.

Young people in such a condition are generally of an anæmic nature and require a preparation containing iron to help improve the blood content.

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills meet this requirement, as they contain three concentrated forms of iron of an easily assimilated nature together with other valuable ingredients indicated for building up the system, strengthening the nerves, and adding to your physical attraction.

HEAR ADDRESS BY ALBERTA BREEDER

Dr. J. G. Roberts Speaks at Meeting of Mink Breeders' Association

Dr. J. G. Roberts, past president of the Alberta Mink Breeders' Association and a prominent breeder of that province, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Vancouver Island Mink Breeders' Association held here last night. Dr. Roberts gave an account of the activities of the mink farmers in Alberta.

H. R. Godfrey and R. B Swailes, president and vice-president, respectively, of the British Columbia Association, addressed the meeting on the redrafting of the constitution of the provincial body. They explained the new constitution in detail and asked for the full support of Island breeders.

A committee appointed to investigate the possibility of preventing airplanes from flying low over mink farms during the whelping period was promised the full co-operation of the aviation authorities, it was reported.

BOMB SHIP WITH QUEEN ON BOARD

Magnetic Mine Dropped From Plane Near Destroyer Carrying Holland's Ruler to England

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—A magnetic mine was dropped from a German plane within forty yards of the British destroyer carrying Queen Wilhelmina to safety in Britain, it was learned today.

A British navy officer, who told the story, said "I have never seen a woman so completely calm in all my life."

The officer, who was in charge of a British destroyer flotilla assisting the Dutch authorities at the Hook of Holland, described the Queen as walking unruffled and sedately down the jetty and asking to be taken to Flushing.

When the destroyer pulled away from the dock and started on its way to sea a German plane flew overhead and dropped a magnetic mine ahead. The destroyer swerved. The mine blew up with a terrific explosion when it hit the water, but the ship was not damaged.

At sea the Queen decided to go to Britain because of danger on every side in her own country.

Student Concert Greatly Enjoyed

More than twenty music studios of the city were represented in the regular monthly programme of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Association, held last night at the Victoria Truth Centre. The hall was filled, and those present showed much appreciation of the excellent talent heard in the course of the concert from promising young musicians, the majority of whom were pianists. There were also a few vocal and violin numbers. All the students were girls.

Miss Ethel James, recently-elected president of the Music Teachers' Association, opened and closed the proceedings.

New Appointments in Canadian Army Are Announced in Ottawa

Two Important Posts Given to Officers Formerly Stationed in Victoria—Further Appointments Are Expected to Be Made Shortly

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Two important military appointments and a number of others, the first of many expected in the next few weeks, were announced today by Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Defence.

Col. Maurice A. Pope, until now director of military operations and intelligence at National Defence headquarters, becomes 'colonel' general staff at Canadian military headquarters in England and Col. R. A. Fraser, of Montreal, becomes officer commanding the 2nd Divisional Artillery of the Canadian Active Service Force.

Colonel Pope will shortly take up his new duties as one of the assistants to Major-General H. D. G. Crerar, officer commanding at headquarters in England, and has been succeeded in Ottawa by Col. J. C. Murchie, until now director of military training and staff duties at National Defence headquarters.

FIRST OF NUMBER

Colonel Fraser's appointment is the first of a number of senior appointments to be made in the Second Division following the return to Ottawa from England of Mr. Rogers and Major-General Victor W. Odlum, divisional commander. Colonel Fraser will have the rank of brigadier.

Other appointments to the Second Division are the commanders of the three field brigades of artillery. Lieut.-Col. F. P. Lloyd, of Coburg, Ont., will command the 4th Field Brigade; Lieut.-Col. R. E. G. Roome, of Yarmouth, N.S., the 5th Brigade, and Lieut.-Col. P. C. Tess, of Vancouver, the 6th Brigade.

Major H. A. Sparling, of Ottawa, is appointed brigade major, 2nd Divisional Artillery, and Major R. H. Keedler, of Montreal, staff captain of Divisional Artillery headquarters.

Appointments to ancillary units include Lieut.-Col. W. E. Huckvale, of Lethbridge, Alta., to command the 2nd Anti-Tank Regiment, and Lieut.-Col. G. H. Ellis, of Saskatoon, to command the 5th Army Field Brigade (Artillery).

RECRUITING OFFICERS

District recruiting officers who will have charge of all recruiting activities for the army include: Captain A. Cairns, of Winnipeg, for M.D. No. 10, Winnipeg; Lieut.-Col. A. W. Pascoe, of Moose Jaw, for M.D. No. 12, Regina. They will have the rank of major.

Holding units for the overseas forces have already been established in England and tonight the department announced the officers commanding them. These units will be pools of reinforcements sent from Canada for the various units of the First and, later, the Second Division when they go into action. The commanders are all to hold the rank of lieutenant-colonel and include: No. 3 Infantry (Rifle) Holding Unit, Lieut.-Col. D. L. Redman, Calgary.

Colonel Pope, born at Riviere du Loup, Que., in 1899, has been long prominent in military affairs in the Dominion and served overseas with the Royal Canadian Engineers in France and Belgium during the first Great War. He was awarded the Military Cross and was mentioned in dispatches.

FORMER APPOINTMENTS

He has held appointments as general staff officer of Military District No. 11 at Victoria, Military District No. 5 at Quebec, at the War Office in London and at National Defence headquarters as temporary and later director of military operation and intelligence.

Col. Murchie, born at Edmundston, N.B., in 1895, was director of military training and staff duties prior to his new appointment. He held the following staff appointments: General staff officer in Military District No. 11 at Victoria, the War Office in London and National Defence headquarters here.

MEN KEEN TO JOIN FORCES

Events in Europe Stimulate Enlistment Applications In Victoria

The trend of events in Europe during the past week has stimulated to a marked degree efforts to join the military forces here, headquarters of Military District No. 11 said yesterday.

This increase in applications for enlistment has occurred in spite of the fact that there has been no notification to the effect that additional men are required.

Men who are now offering their services are not merely foot-loose, but have considered their action from every angle, and while at present there is no recruiting campaign in progress here, every effort is being made to find a place for these latest applicants.

NEED COOKS AND CLERKS

The present need is for men with special cooking abilities, it was pointed out, and also for men qualified to do clerical work. Anticipating the qualifications needed for cooks, clerks, and other services, there will be the necessity to train men to the present high standard of army requirements for these occupations. It appears likely that some arrangements for training young men as cooks and clerks will be undertaken, but in the meantime there is a heavy demand for men already trained as cooks and clerks.

Especially needed at present are clerks with typewriting ability. High-speed typing is not essential, and men who can type twenty-five to forty words a minute will qualify, if they are able to pass routine military examinations. Knowledge of shorthand, though not a necessity in most army offices, also serves as a recommendation for enlistment. The minimum speed should be about forty words a minute.

Dutch West Indies Will Be Defended

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Dutch West Indies, May 17 (AP).—The Legislative Council assembled in special session today to hear the Governor proclaim that the Dutch West Indies still are Netherlands territory, the integrity of which will be maintained by force of arms, if necessary.

French and British naval detachments were landed on Curacao and Aruba to prevent possible sabotage soon after the German invasion of The Netherlands. This colony consists of six small islands in the Caribbean Sea, off the coast of Venezuela.

The other Dutch colony in the Western Hemisphere is Netherlands Guiana on the north coast of South America.

ALIEN IS FINED

MONTREAL, May 17 (CP).—David Loors, forty-two, registered enemy alien, was fined $300 yesterday by Judge Gustave Marin after pleading guilty to a charge of violating the Defence of Canada Regulations by attempting to leave Canada without the necessary "exeat" permit.

B.C. STUDYING ROWELL REPORT

National Direction Looked To in Connection With Espionage Hunts

Returned from the Mainland yesterday, Premier Pattullo intimated here that the Provincial Government would study the text of the final report of the Rowell Commission before making comment on recommendations in the extensive document dealing with British Columbia.

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, left for Vancouver last evening for the week-end, and may proceed to Ottawa without returning here. Premier Pattullo intimated he himself would leave for Ottawa about the middle of next week.

AWAIT DIRECTION

Premier Pattullo and Attorney-General G. S. Wismer both declined express comment on municipal and other activities aimed at meeting any espionage or subversive action on the part of enemy sympathizers in British Columbia.

The Premier said that the province was keeping in close touch with Ottawa, and that he would discuss the matter when he visits the national capital. Mr. Wismer pointed out that national direction could be expected, and that, meanwhile, private agitation on the point might be more embarrassing than helpful.

REGISTRATION FEE IS YEARLY

Some 3,500 Fuel Dealers Will Continue Dollar Payments to Province

Thirty-five hundred registered coal and gasoline dealers, including all phases of both industries, will be notified by the Provincial Fuel Control Board shortly that the annual licence registration fee of $1 will be payable each year on or before April 1, corresponding to the province's fiscal year.

Heretofore, it was explained by officials of the board, licences have been issued for a year from the date of registration. Now, however, it is desired to commence a licence year, so that licence renewals will not spread out over the twelve-month period.

The change was embodied in Regulation 12, approved by the Provincial Government and gazetted this week. It provides a new Section 13 of Regulation 1 under the board, setting out that licences issued by the board will expire at March 31 yearly.

The renewal fee will be $1, irrespective of the class of business. Between 3,400 and 3,500 licences are in effect now, officials of the board said.

Dr. Pakstas has been Professor of Geography at the University of Kaunas, Lithuania. He is a native of that country, but completed his graduate studies in Switzerland, and has since lectured in universities of South Africa and Scandinavia.

Dr. Pakstas has been lecturing in the Eastern United States and in Eastern Canada since last October, and is coming to Victoria under the auspices of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, for whom he is lecturing across Canada.

Miss Winnie Hall will sing, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn.

Tests show how you react to TRAFFIC NERVES

Dr. Geo. H. Mount

1 DRIVING A CAR can be a lot of fun—but in traffic, it's hard on the nerves. However, until Dr. George H. Mount, Los Angeles psychologist, made his "Traffic Nerves" tests recently, few of us knew how hard. Dr. Mount and his staff proved conclusively that there is a definite physical reaction to the strain you undergo in traffic which can be measured by medical instruments.

2 AS YOU CAN SEE by the instruments, Dr. Mount tested drivers in several ways. For illustration, however, he shows the pulse reaction, because it indicates how fast we are burning up nervous energy.

3 DR. MOUNT FOUND two basic types of reaction: steady strain; and shocks. Failure to make a signal, is one of the shocks that raises the driver's pulse as high as 35% above normal.

4 STALLING YOUR CAR is another. (One driver's pulse went from 84 to 109 in a spot like this.) The noise of a police siren or a horn persistently honking is another.

5 POOR PICK-UP IN A TIGHT SPOT may make your pulse beat from 35% to 50% faster. After each shock, the pulse drops back. But it never gets as low as it was, until easier driving conditions lessen the strain.

6 SO, IF YOU'RE LIKE THE DRIVERS TESTED, your pulse will be 27% higher by the time you're in heavy traffic. When you consider these facts, it seems reasonable to assume that "Traffic Nerves" cuts down your energy, reduces efficiency, makes you unduly tired; that "Traffic Nerves" is one of the factors contributing to the increasing tension of modern living. A determination on the part of Union Oil engineers to combat this tension led to two developments that may mean a lot to your nervous system in the months to come. Read about them in the paragraphs below.

A Clinic That Finds Out How You Can Reduce Strain

The new Union Oil Co. Traffic Clinic was established as a result of Dr. Mount's tests. It has published some of its findings in a FREE booklet, "How to Reduce Traffic Nerves." This booklet tells you how to drive in fog, how to reduce eye strain, how to sit at the wheel, how to time signals and a number of other ingenious tips. Get a free copy at your Union Oil station.

A Way to Give Your Car Better Performance in Traffic

When Union Oil engineers saw Dr. Mount's tests, they determined to do what they could to reduce "Traffic Nerves." So they set out to blend a gasoline especially for traffic performance. The result was a new 76.

New 76 is high enough in anti-knock to give you a quiet motor. It has power for emergencies.

It is volatile enough to prevent stalling and bucking. It gives you quick-starting and fast get-away at signals. It gives you steady, even combustion in crawling traffic. And it is long enough on mileage for real economy.

Thanks to this careful designing, new 76 makes your car easier to handle. Try a tankful tomorrow. See if it doesn't help you reduce "Traffic Nerves."

WHAT WILL OTTAWA DO?

"At no time in the last war were we in greater peril than we are now," said Mr. Winston Churchill on May 8. The situation today is graver still. The Speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament at Ottawa on Thursday last contained the following: "While the present session of Parliament will necessarily be mainly concerned with Canada's war effort, and the measures essential to the achievement of ultimate victory, my ministers are of opinion that, despite what today is being witnessed of concentrated warfare, it is desirable, as far as may be possible, to plan for the days that will follow the cessation of hostilities." It can well be suggested to Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government that first things should come first. Will it matter one whit what Canada plans "for the social and economic requirements of the country" if the War is not won by the Allies?

In this Dominion at this moment, apart from the air service, recruiting is almost at a standstill, not because there are not thousands upon thousands of men anxious to serve in this time of peril, but because so many restrictions have been placed in the way of such service. Even in the case of the air service, men have been advised by those in authority to exercise patience, not to throw up their jobs in the hope of being taken on the strength. The situation in Canada in respect to any summons to the colors must be unique in comparison with that throughout the Empire. The Government has never yet organized a recruiting campaign such as was in progress in this Dominion throughout the whole period of the Great War, and yet, "at no time in the last war were we in greater peril than we are now."

It is man power, and more man power, that will be needed to insure victory for the Allies. That is the lesson of Germany's crashing offensive in Belgium and northeastern France. The enemy has brought weight of numbers to bear in the advances that are being made; the Allies will want more and more men to stem those advances and to turn the tide of battle. That is a realization that became apparent the moment war ensued. It has been one largely ignored by the Government at Ottawa. From the beginning, moderate participation in the War on the part of Canada was decreed, and that is the policy that has been followed. This is an indisputable fact, so far as it relates to the provision of man power for the fighting services.

"During these days we have watched, rather as interested spectators, high drama in the British Parliament," says The Journal of Ottawa. "We have seen Great Britain's Government charged with being 'too late,' charged with complacency and lack of vigor. Are we certain that we in Canada are not in danger of being 'too late' with the war task committed to us? Too late with our Air Training Plan? . . . . This, clearly, is no time for any 'time-table' schedule suitable to less grave circumstances. Neither is it time for criticism or recriminations over mistakes of the past. Enough to know now that no matter what we did or failed to do last year or the year before that, or during these eight months of war, we know now that we can no longer afford to be 'too late'. The grim reality is that Britain, in desperate need of air parity with Germany, is depending upon our Air Training Plan to achieve that parity. That should be enough."

It is not enough, not by a long chalk. What is of the highest importance at this time is the provision of more and more men for the land forces, in conjunction with whatever aid in the air Canada eventually is able to give. The summons of the crisis to this country is for unrestricted war effort, for men and more men. When Mr. Churchill said in Parliament on May 8 that, "at no time in the last war were we in greater peril than we are now," the German invasion of Holland and Belgium and the assault on the Maginot Line had not commenced. Now, supervening on the grave peril in which the Empire stood on May 8, is the fuller knowledge of the immense potentialities of the German military machine because of its relentless march ever nearer to the British coast. What will Ottawa do, beyond the "timetable" it has planned, to permit Canada to play its full part in meeting the exigencies of an ever-developing situation of "greater peril"?

CONSERVATIVE PRINCIPLES

A task of vital importance awaits the Conservative Party at the present juncture of its affairs—the task of selecting a leader to direct its activities and that of restating, in unmistakable terms, the fundamental principles for which the party stands. The exposition of Conservative doctrine and policy as presented during the recent election failed to secure the approval of the electors. There were defects in organization, no doubt, and errors in the general management of the campaign, as well as lack of skill in the presentation of the Conservative case. Thorough Liberal organization and aggressive prosecution of a brief election campaign, carried on amidst the anxieties of war, were powerful factors in the contest.

It is often said that times change and we change with them, but we can be very sure that principles do not change. Political conservatism rests upon fundamental principles that are as true today as ever they were, and just as essential as ever to the well-being of the country. The present is certainly not the time to forget them.

The world struggle is a constant reminder of the irrepressible conflict between the dominance of the State and the rights of the individual, between those who regard the State as a servant and those who would make it the master. That conflict is being waged on many fronts besides the actual battle line. Every new limitation of personal rights by ambitious politicians; every increase of oligarchial power, every numerical addition to an already much overgrown bureaucracy; every newly created board with administrative powers, independent of our ordinary courts of law; every new obstruction placed by governmental agencies in the ordinary channels of trade and industry; in short, every extension of totalitarian practices, furnishes aid and comfort to fifth column organizations and their sympathizers everywhere.

In our own Province, within the past few days, we have had a flagrant example of the operation of the totalitarian spirit and temper. The Government asked the Legislature for an addition to its already excessive powers. The Conservative Members refused to comply. Some Liberals also rebelled. The C.C.F. Members of the Legislature hastened joyfully to the support of a so-called Liberal Government engaged in Socialistic legislation, and the thing was done. In the result the Legislature entrusted the Cabinet with powers far more dangerous to the rights of the individual than any business concern like an oil company could possibly possess. A business concern is subject to the economic law of supply and demand, and to the ordinary law of the land. A self-willed Cabinet is a law unto itself unless it is kept in order by a watchful Legislature.

A Conservative convention is to meet before long to consider the affairs of the Party. The recent assault upon individual rights committed by the local Government should remind the Conservative Party that it is high time to reaffirm the principle that the State is the servant and not the master of the people, and that one of the prime functions of the Legislature is to curb and control the too ambitious spirit and tendency of Cabinet Ministers, and to impress upon the Cabinet that it must ever remain responsible to the House.

A PERILOUS PREOCCUPATION

Swedish iron ore is to Germany's steel industry what Rumanian oil is to her petroleum needs. The Swedish iron deposits are, perhaps, the richest in the world, those at Kiruna, surface mined, yielding from 56 to 71 per cent iron. The German war machine depends very largely on the Swedish product, and more of it than ever before is now being obtained from that source. Most of the supplies during the Winter months are transported to Germany by the port of Narvik.

There is a dual purpose in Germany's invasion of Norway. The first and primary desire is to gain new footholds from which Great Britain can be more readily attacked; the second is to insure a steady flow of iron shipments, via Narvik. Germany will strain every effort to bring about the complete conquest of Norway, though even the possession of Narvik will not insure her iron ore supplies during the time that port is used. Now that Norway is a belligerent zone, the Allies, by sea and air, can keep up continuous attacks on German shipping or seize neutral shipping carrying German cargoes. If one of Germany's life lines for her war effort is the carriage of ore from Sweden by the Narvik route, that route is more endangered now than since the War began. The occupation of Norway as a whole, if that becomes possible, opens up a new and perilous preoccupation for Germany, and does so at a time when her naval power has been depleted. Aerial convoy for merchant shipping has not yet reached a stage where it can replace naval convoy for safe transport.

When the British Navy wiped out the enemy's destroyers at Narvik, The Times, of London, received the following cable, which it printed as a letter to the Editor: "Well done Royal Navy. Thanks from a darned pro-British Yankee."—Harold A. Titcomb, Farmington, Maine.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

German propaganda is funny, if you will examine it.

• • •

Nazi planes have already "sunk" two and a half times the combined fleets of France and Britain.

• • •

They have "sunk" the Repulse and the Hood so many times that really both ships should be preserved as museum pieces for all time.

• • •

And now we are told that "Grandpa" is lonely at Doorn. Cheer up, Grandpa; you are almost certain to have company.

• • •

History shows that most of the hot heads found their way into the cooler, sooner or later.

• • •

This time, the way things are going, it is quite apt to be sooner than later.

• • •

It is a curious fact that the British lion does not become really dangerous until you sting him.

• • •

They took the muzzles off the Royal Air Force the other day, and six Hurricanes slid into twenty-six Messerschmidts, cannon or no cannon.

The Hurricanes downed five, while three others tackled nine Heinkels for good measure, cutting out four.

That is aerial warfare at combined speeds in excess of 600 miles an hour.

Already the Allied air forces have established a three-to-one superiority in air fighting, machine for machine and man for man.

The German propaganda machine turned that into a great Nazi "victory," with more machines shot down that had probably operated over all lines.

As the B.B.C. announcer suggested yesterday, it was possible the Nazis announced their own losses in error.

The French are excellent air pilots, and will be an additional tower of strength on the Allied side.

At the moment, the Allies seem to have the best machines, and the best men in the machines.

• • •

It would be curious if the Germans turned out to be wrong about the question of air supremacy, also.

• • •

Propaganda on one side, the Allies have swept the seas of German tonnage and the submarine campaign seems to have fizzled in nine months.

On land, the Germans are far behind schedule according to the last war, when they held the whole of Belgium, much of Flanders, a good deal of France, and had made two or three starts on the "road to Paris."

• • •

Through the long years, a number of people have made starts on the "road to Paris," but they didn't finish well. The French have an almost fanatical devotion to their own acres.

• • •

Right now, while the fuss is on, and feathers are flying, is a good time to take it easily on the home front.

If you want your war news, take it from an Allied source. The Allies are born pessimists—they will not let you down.

• • •

It is only democracies that can afford to tell the truth in the heat of battle. Dictators must show a chain of "victories," or they will lose their own heads.

• • •

Democracies have a curious habit of losing every battle but the last one, and that is the one that counts.

It was that way in 1914, and in 1915, and in 1916, and in 1917, and for most of 1918, but look what happened in the last hundred days!

We "groused" our way to victory; and from all the signs, we shall do so again. At least we have made a good start. In nine months we have arrived at our first "serious position."

• • •

That is running true to form. That is what history, at least, expects of us. I feel much encouraged. We are on the right road, at last!

Canada Exerting Only a Fraction Of Her Strength

(From an Address by Senator Arthur Meighen)

I wonder if we who feel a certain security because of the width of the Atlantic have any notion what color of sun would rise tomorrow if the Maginot Line were broken. Only the other day someone told me, and will be telling you almost any day of the week, that we are all right, as we have the United States to protect us. I do not feel all right. It is not very long ago that I read an article by a former President of the United States, in an American magazine, in which he extolled the security of his nation and said that should the Democracies in Europe go down the task would so strain Germany that this continent would be safe for a quarter of a century. Has he, or have you, any conception of the terms of peace in the event of a German victory? Can you imagine a peace which would exempt from domination one single island in the Atlantic? Does not such domination mean immediate war for us all? When peace is dictated by triumphant Germany, South America will be a thousand miles nearer the new war bases of the Reich than that continent will be to the United States. Nazi organizations all over this hemisphere will find fertile soil. In the name of reason why don't we take a look at stark realities and think? Can any person of common sense imagine a Europe, an Africa, in the grip of Hitler; the one-time British Fleet directed from Berlin, and a free continent over here? Talk about wishful thinking! It is stupid.

FIFTH COLUMN IN AMERICA

Before that hour strikes, the Nazi fifth column will be a powerful column right from Cape Horn to Hudson Bay. There will be a thousand Danzigs all over this continent. In such a plight there would be seen the United States and ourselves, or what is left of us, facing European dictatorships in the pride and arrogance of triumph. I beg of my fellow-countrymen to think. We are right now in a struggle which can only end in the collapse of our civilization or in the victory for the British Empire.

We take victory for granted—far too much for granted. Just think of tomorrow if the Maginot Line cracked. Well, if I know anything, our lives from that day would be worth very little. This is the time to go out to win. Every friend of liberty and decency should get under the flag and go on. Let me just suggest that some moment a year hence, two years or longer, you hear over the radio that the dread hour has struck, that the line has broken, that the British Fleet has gone down in a storm of fire and a sea of blood. Where, then, will the leaders of Canada look for salvation? The twelve months to follow would be of such a world-rocking type that none of us would feel that we were living on the same planet.

NEED FOR MORE MEN

With all my faith in British tenacity, I pay tribute to the gallantry and skill of the army of France. But there is a limit to all things mortal. You remember 1917, when France was hounded close to the door of destruction, blood streaming from her veins, not far, not far, from the breaking point. Thousands of Canada's sons went through the Gethsemane of Passchendaele, but France was held together. Are you not thinking this might happen again? Some one has said that we will win the war with guns and not with men. When I see millions called to the colors in Britain after only seven months of war—when the voice of France's new Premier calls out for men and more men—when armies are gathering in the East millions strong—when there are danger spots in the Balkans—don't tell me that we do not need men.

So far there is nothing for us to boast about. There is a lot we can do. We are a considerable country, but the people of the Dominion of Canada have to get some realization of the nature of this war. We have not yet put forth our strength or a fraction of our strength. We need men. We need guns. We need munitions. We need everything, and everything else can stand aside until this country wages war in the spirit and with the might that these awful times demand.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of May 18, 1890)

Coming to Victoria—J. Birtles, Sr., a prominent resident of Alexander, Man., has announced his intention of moving to Victoria district, near this city, where he will engage extensively in dairying, poultry farming, bee keeping and fruit-growing. He will be a most desirable resident, and a welcome awaits him here.

To Meet His Highness—It is intended that the new tug Lorne, in charge of Capt. Urquhart and Capt. Christensen, with His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor aboard, will meet the steamer Abyssinia on her arrival Wednesday and convey H.R.H. the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and party to this city. Mayor Grant and the reception committee will welcome the distinguished visitors at the landing.

Tramway Notes—The provisional directors of the New Westminster & Vancouver Electric Tramway Company met in Vancouver Friday afternoon and had some discussion regarding preparations to begin construction. It was decided to hold a general meeting of the shareholders on Saturday, May 21, in Westminster City, when the final step will be taken. The whole of the stock in this company has now been subscribed.

Lost "Cookie Duster"

On arrival at the police station we noticed what appeared to be a new sergeant lurking in deep shadow behind the charge desk. His voice was familiar but his face appeared strange. But it was just one of the bluecoats minus his moustache. He explained that he had been shaving with an electric razor, and in turning around to answer his wife, the miniature mowing machine sawed through half his "cookie duster." He had to take the other half off to balance his profile . . . Dave recently installed a converted automobile engine in his seagoing ark. An eyewitness informed us that Dave forgot a car engine turned over in a direction opposite to a marine engine, and as a result went cruising around the Inner Harbor in reverse . . . There must be a certain amount of work available here. During the week an able-bodied man who is one of the pioneer "reliefers" secured a steady job with good pay. There will be no more leaning on a shovel . . . We were interested to learn the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council passed a resolution protesting against "wartime profiteering" in rents. City taxes have been reduced for three consecutive years, and there has been no increase in the cost of water, so there appears to be no legitimate excuse for higher rents.—G.B.

Street Names!

The complaints that are being registered with the city and municipal councils over the changing of certain street names in the Greater Victoria area is only a prelude to the difficulties and complications that will arise when the labels are officially posted on the street corners. Doubtless the residents foresee these difficulties and are seeking to forestall them. Some have pointed out that changing the name of a street will prove detrimental to their business calls as customers will have difficulty locating them. Others might even forget the new name of their street and be unable to find their way home. In cases of emergency, doctors may experience considerable trouble trying to locate streets when their names are changed. And we really feel sorry for the taxi drivers and anyone engaged in delivering commodities—they will have to spend a few hours pouring over the latest street labels. Putting up new signs with the former name listed underneath might help to solve the problem, but it will present rather a cumbersome direction post, particularly to visitors to our city. Nevertheless, it seems that the streets have to be renamed, so the sooner the public is educated the better. Up-to-date street maps will go a long way towards relieving the situation!—W.I.F.

Diamond Dust

With three victories in as many starts, Manager Bill Bridgewood's pace-setting Eagles look like the club to beat in the Senior Baseball League pennant race this season. In fact, the 1940 edition of the feathered tribe is, in our opinion, one of the best that has ever played under the sponsorship of the Victoria Eagles . . . Russ Richardson, former Vancouver hurler, will have a chance to pitch against a number of his old clubmates when Bob Brown's Vancouver Athletics play the Victoria All-Stars here on May 24 . . . Orchids to Steve Dunc, elongated outfielder of the Eagles, for his fine batting performance Wednesday evening. Dunc collected five safeties in as many trips to the plate . . . Good news for aspiring young balltossers. Victoria's baseball school will be held at Royal Athletic Park during the Summer vacation from studies. Last season more than 200 registered for the instructional classes . . Jack Okell, third sacker of Brundson's Veterans, staged a one-man batting exhibition Thursday evening by clouting out three of the free hits garnered off Ono, Camerons' hurler. And then in the last inning he poled out a circuit drive to tie up the old ball game . . . Tommy Brundson, sponsor of the softball team carrying his name, should be proud of his proteges. They turned in a good exhibition in their season's opener.—S.T.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serves to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Demand for Move to Check Fifth Column Activities Growing

Internment of Subversive Elements and Organization of Volunteer Home Defence Units Suggested by Many Civilian Leaders

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A NEW call to arms, gaining force as it rolls across the country, is being sounded in Canada for strong home defence units to prevent the rise in the Dominion of "fifth column" wedges that opened the way for the Nazi invaders in Europe.

Suggestions for the organization of home guards have gone forward to Dominion Government authorities from an increasing number of municipalities and organizations. The units, if armed, could bolster regular defence forces in the event of an enemy parachute invasion.

The call for volunteer home defence groups has been sounded on the Pacific Coast more strongly than elsewhere in the country.

REGISTRATION OF MEN

A plan advanced by Mayor Fred Hume, of New Westminster, to have all males between sixteen and sixty years register with civic authorities as a precautionary step against war emergencies was endorsed by Mayor Lyle Telford, of Vancouver.

Persons registering would be asked to state their age, nationality, birthplace and military experience and whether they were prepared to volunteer for local service. Failure to register would bring "official action."

At Vancouver, an estimated 25,000 returned soldiers will be invited by the 31st Battalion Association to enlist in an unofficial home defence league to combat "fifth column" activities. The association approved a resolution asking the Government to make available immediately arms and armaments for this proposed "flying column."

TOO MANY ALIENS LOOSE

The Trail branch of the Canadian Legion has endorsed action of the North Okanagan zone of that body in seeking internment of all enemy aliens because there were "too many aliens loose" in the district and public feeling was "naturally running high." The Canadian Legion at Edmonton has pressed for internment of all Communists as well as enemy aliens.

The Town Council of Burlington, Ont., has invited other municipalities to follow its lead and adopt resolutions urging Ottawa to act immediately in the organization of home guard units, particularly in smaller centres.

Toronto, too, is seeking Dominion permission to organize strong home guards. The police commissioners have sent to Ottawa a report on certain elements in the city.

The Toronto Metropolitan Police Shoot Association has called for the promotion of more rifle and revolver clubs in Canada as a precautionary measure against parachute invasion. The association suggested the clubs should be formed by police, fire and veterans' organizations.

GROWING UNEASINESS

VANCOUVER, May 17 (CP).—The Vancouver Police Commission today wired Prime Minister Mackenzie King calling attention to the "growing uneasiness" in Vancouver regarding possible alien sabotage.

Pending a reply the commission tabled Mayor Lyle Telford's plan calling for registeration of Vancouver citizens as a home defence measure.

In addition to telegraphing the Prime Minister, the mayor was authorized by the commission to wire Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie and send copies of the resolution to each of the Vancouver members in the House of Parliament by air mail.

The resolution said that it should be pointed out to the Government "the feeling in Vancouver against enemy aliens and sympathizers and asking for a reply stating whether adequate care has been taken to control their possible subversive activities and indicating what steps have been taken to that end."

SUGGESTS REGISTRATION

The mayor put forward a second resolution that the city inaugurate a system of registration for civic defence if the reply from the Government was not "satisfactory," but the commission tabled it pending word from Ottawa.

In outlining the registration plan, Mayor Telford said it would be "purely voluntary" and would have as its purpose the listing of citizens willing to serve in a wartime emergency.

Although voluntary the registration scheme would require any person who failed to register to tender an explanation.

Judge A. M. Harper, one of the commissioners, expressed the view the plan should be national in scope, while Magistrate G. R. McQueen warned against "rushing into something that will create confusion." Both agreed a representation to Ottawa was the wisest course at present.

PROPERLY CONTROLLED

From Robert Macnicol, provincial secretary of the Canadian Legion, came a statement that the Legion was behind any effort to control subversive influences, but that whatever was done should be "properly controlled."

Meanwhile in the Fraser Valley organization of a civilian defence corps of 1,000 or more men got underway, with meetings already held in Surrey and Langley Municipalities and a meeting scheduled in New Westminster Monday.

MINISTER SPEAKS OUT

A personal expression of opinion as to what should be done with enemy aliens in British Columbia was made by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, addressing a dinner meeting last night at which delegates to the annual meeting of the Municipal Officers' Association of British Columbia were the guests of the Provincial Government.

"There are people in our province who are not friends of Canada and the Empire, and I hope it will not be long before they are put in a position where they can do no harm," the minister said.

"Fifth Column" activities were discussed at considerable length by the association at the final session of its two-day convention yesterday afternoon, and a majority of the members expressed strong views on the need for measures to curb alien activities. No resolution was proposed, however, as it was felt that it was not within the province of the association to express opinions on matters of policy, its interest being confined to technical matters relating to municipal government.

Warning to the Sleepless Who Use Dangerous Drugs

Physicians report a marked increase of insomnia cases and warn against the danger of using narcotic and hypnotic drugs to induce sleep.

"Sales of sleeping tablets are enormous" says Dr. Rising of the University of Chicago. "Millions are spent for the purchase of these drugs", says Dr. Weiss of Harvard. Business men, stenographers, debutantes and housewives are among those who seek relief from nerve-racking sleeplessness.

"More than 75% of patients in our hospitals had been taking large doses of these dangerous drugs before coming to us", says Dr. Robinson of Kansas City.

When habit-forming opiates, such as morphine and codeine cannot be obtained, other drugs are used. Some of these drugs are destructive to the nervous system, causing mental disturbances, sexual disorders, and even death.

Sleeplessness is a persistent symptom of nervous exhaustion. The natural tendency is for the condition to grow worse and worse unless effort is made to restore richness to the blood and vigor to the nervous system.

For this purpose, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is indicated, because it supplies the accessory foods, mineral substances and Vitamin B_1, from which Nature builds up red blood corpuscles and the vital nerve force which controls the various organs of the body.

Very many people report that they have been relieved entirely of sleeplessness by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is not a narcotic or hypnotic. It does not act as a sedative. But it does help to remove the cause of sleeplessness by improving the quality of the blood and thereby nourishing the starved nerves.

Since Vitamin B_1 has been added to the formula of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, wider benefits may be expected from this treatment. Among other symptoms to be relieved may be mentioned nervous indigestion, chronic lack of appetite, anaemia, irritability, restlessness, chronic fatigue and general run-down condition of the body.

Instead of deadening the nerves, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to tone up and invigorate the nervous system, and thereby gives new pep and energy to body and mind. It not only makes you feel and look better, but also builds up a reserve of nerve force to help you fight the battle of life.

Action Against Aliens Sought

At a recent meeting of the British Imperial Comrades' Association, the organization raised its voice with other ex-servicemen's organizations in urging action against possible fifth column activities.

Resolutions passed suggested complete registration of all enemy aliens, dismissal of aliens from key positions and internment of those suspected.

Co-operation with other veterans' bodies in the drive was pledged, and the organization of a Veterans' War Service Corps supported.

The resolutions will be forwarded to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and the adjutant-general of the association in London.

WILL LECTURE TO VICTORIANS

Miss B. R. Palmer, Temperance Director, Makes Her First Visit Here

Making her first visit to Vancouver Island, Miss Bertha Rachel Palmer, former superintendent of public instruction of North Dakota and now director of the educational programme of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, arrived in the city yesterday for a week-end stay.

Miss Palmer is here under the auspices of the Provincial Women's Temperance Union and will speak from two city pulpits tomorrow. She will also speak at a tea to be given in her honor this afternoon at Spencer's dining-room at 3 o'clock.

She has been touring Western Canada for the past month, addressing leaders in school, church and social welfare work, Miss Palmer said yesterday at the Strathcona Hotel, adding that the response to her lectures has been excellent.

OBJECTIVE METHOD

Because of a certain prejudicial attachment to the word temperance Miss Palmer speaks always of "alcohol education." She uses the objective method, she stated, and illustrates her points by practical chemical demonstration, in presenting what she terms a new approach to the temperance problem.

Pointing out the large number of automobile accidents due to alcoholic consumption, Miss Palmer said that an educational programme takes time to judge, but that when the intelligence of young people is appealed to rather than their emotions, they show a decidedly favorable response to her appeals.

Canada in wartime she found very interesting, she said, as she remarked on the large number of men in uniform that she saw in Winnipeg, the first Canadian city she reached after leaving her headquarters in Evanston, Ill.

Miss Palmer wears a string of miniature badges and medals, indicating her membership in a host of clubs, off-campus sororities and various associations. She expects to leave for Seattle Monday afternoon.

HURLING FURIOUS COUNTER-ATTACK

done to assure you protection and supplies."

The notice urged the people to "be calm and resolute, as you have been in every tragic period of our history."

WARN AGAINST RUMORS

The Ministry of Information issued a warning that German agents are spreading false rumors in an effort to create a panic. It urged civilians not to abandon their homes without formal orders.

A decree was published creating territorial guard formations to protect against "enemies behind the front," such as German parachute troops and "fifth columnists." The formation is open to all non-mobilized men sixteen years of age or older who will serve in their home communities under military orders.

While the Germans fought on the western edge of their bulge, other invading forces tried, without success, the French said, to widen it south of Sedan to Montmedy.

The French High Command acknowledged that the fluid battlefront had spread back to the Sedan-Rethel-Sambre line yesterday, and that the Germans renewed their attack at dawn today.

PRESS ON ALL SIDES

The French, however, with their armies regrouped to meet the threat, pressed in on all sides of the pocket.

(The pocket apparently is thirty-five to forty-five miles deep in France at the southern edge, from Sedan area to Rethel, and fifty-five to sixty miles in width, on the west, from Rethel north to the Sambre River in the Mauberge sector. Rethel, the lower edge of this loosely-stitched military pocket, is about 100 miles northeast of Paris.)

The battle of the Meuse-Sambre, begun as one of fixed positions on the Meuse River along the Belgian border, has become one of mobile fighting on the 1914 battlefields of Northern France.

For the first time since springing their blitzkrieg methods on Poland, however, the German columns encountered organized resistance behind the front, after breaking their way across the Meuse.

(The French positions which they pierced are not those of the main Maginot Line, but a northwesterly extension of comparatively light, above-ground fortifications and trenches.)

CALENDAR OF BATTLE

A French calendar of the battle up to tonight follows.

Monday—The Germans, after rushing sixty miles through Belgium, reached the east bank of the Meuse and occupied French Sedan.

Tuesday—Three passages were forced by the Germans across the Meuse on the fifty-five-mile front from Sedan north to Namur.

Wednesday—German tanks, fanning out from bridgeheads on the west bank of the Meuse, moved into the French interior.

Thursday—The German columns camped off the highways, awaiting reinforcements and supplies of food, gasoline and ammunition.

Friday—The German patrols resumed their rush, but French and British air forces counter-attacked and French infantry, armed with anti-tank guns, lay in ambush. Overnight, south of Sedan, villages changed hands five or six times in violent, isolated engagements.

The German advance point, in the region north of Rethel, lies in the zone occupied by the Germans in 1914, just north of the Champagne Plains and northwest of the bloody forest of the Argonne.

New Chief Justice Is Appointed

HON. M. A. MACDONALD

FORMERLY a Justice of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, who has been appointed to succeed Hon. Archer Martin, retired, as Chief Justice of British Columbia. He was appointed to the Court of Appeal in 1924. He is well known for his addresses on Pacific problems, and for his Royal Commission report on the province's coal and petroleum industry three years ago.

INJURED HUNTER IS FLOWN INTO ATLIN

ATLIN, B.C., May 17 (CP).—Charles Rudolf, sixteen, was treated in hospital for gunshot wounds today after being brought here by an airplane which made a mercy flight to Gladys Lake at the request of Herman Egli, who hiked forty miles with news of the hunting accident.

The plane landed on a hilltop five miles from the spot where young Rudolf received a shot in the thigh when he was mistaken for a bear in the twilight. The wounded youth was hauled to the landing-field on a stretcher made of two trees.

Young Rudolf was hunting near Gladys Lake with his father and Egli when he was shot. Egli walked the forty miles to Atlin to summon the plane.

SAYS MEIGHEN MAY BE LEADER

Ottawa Newspaper Says Former Premier May Return to House

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—The Ottawa Evening Journal said today it had a report from Parliament Hill of a "movement to bring Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister, from the Senate to the House of Commons and place him in the post of Conservative House leader."

"Mr. Meighen," said the paper, "under this plan would resign his seat in the Senate (where he is Conservative leader) and secure election to the House of Commons, possibly in the vacant constituency of Carleton."

The paper added that Mr. Meighen's return to the Commons would not necessarily mean he had become leader of the Conservative party, because only a national party convention can select a leader. But he would take over the duties of the Opposition leader, which Hon. R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York-Sunbury) has accepted temporarily "with the probability that he (Meighen) would be chosen later as permanent party leader."

APPLE GROWERS TO BE HELPED

Dominion Making Guarantee To Aid Orchardists In Nova Scotia

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP).—The Dominion Government will guarantee Nova Scotia apple growers a net return of 80 per cent of the average over the last three years on a portion of the 1940 crop, according to an order in council tabled in Parliament yesterday and adopted last April 26.

Wartime import restrictions in Great Britain have deprived Nova Scotia growers of the bulk of their export market, the order said. The average pack for 1936, 1937 and 1938 was 1,530,000 barrels, and that average will form the basis for the Dominion assistance planned.

In those three years, exports to the United Kingdom totaled 61 per cent, 76 per cent and 81 per cent, respectively, of total exports for each year.

The order in council authorizes expenditure by the Dominion Government of up to $2,647,125 in taking care of the 1940 surplus in Nova Scotia.

Main Force Of Japanese Is Crushed

HONGKONG, May 18 (AP).—Central News, Chinese Government agency, announced today that the main Japanese force in Central China had been crushed with the recapture of Tsaoyang, which had been a Japanese base in Northern Hupeh province.

The Chinese were said to have taken the city after day-long hand-to-hand fighting.

The Chinese earlier had reported recapture of the Japanese base, saying 7,000 Japanese were killed or wounded and others retreated southward "in utter confusion."

Westinghouse presents many advantages over other refrigerators. But one feature alone TRUE-TEMP Automatic Cold Control . . . makes Westinghouse the most advanced household refrigerator on the market today. Because only TRUE-TEMP holds food temperature constant.

All other controls, at the best, are unable to prevent room temperatures from affecting the temperatures of the food. Only TRUE-TEMP automatically compensates for variations in kitchen temperature and maintains constant, unvarying cold in the food compartment.

Only Westinghouse has TRUE-TEMP, the one vital advancement you want in your refrigerator.

WHY TAKE A CHANCE?

Even a few degrees fluctuation in temperature impairs meat, milk and other perishable foods. Why run risks with your family's health — why "wonder" if foods are all right—why "guess" at food temperatures. Westinghouse TRUE-TEMP ends uncertainty — avoids waste and assures constant cold — the protection your foods require.

PAY NOTHING EXTRA

CITY OFFICIALS CLOSE SESSION

Municipal Officers' Association Ends Two-Day Conference in Victoria

Concluding a two-day conference here at the invitation of the Department of Municipal Affairs, forty-nine delegates representing the Municipal Officers' Association of British Columbia left for their homes last evening after a provincial banquet held at Colwood.

The final day of the second annual gathering was devoted to closing discussions on matters of municipal administration, and to the forwarding of resolutions dealing with organizational matters to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities. E. S. Fox, of Duncan, presided.

During the afternoon motion pictures of British Columbia industrial and travel life were shown to the visitors, the conference ending with a banquet at the Royal Colwood Golf Club, where the delegates were guests of the Provincial Government.

The proceedings throughout were private, it being held that this permitted freer discussion on departmental matters than otherwise would have obtained.

BRITISH AIRCRAFT CONTINUE ATTACKS

for a time at least, are able to sustain their effort."

The Ministry reported a fierce and successful attack on German forces in which "pontoon bridges were blown up, roads blocked, troops on the march bombed and machine-gunned," and German mechanized units received heavy casualties.

TEXT OF COMMUNIQUE

The Air Ministry communique tonight follows:

"Last night bombers of the Royal Air Force again raided military objectives in the West of Germany. Their object was to interfere with communications by which the enemy is bringing up supplies and reinforcements to the Western Front. Many objectives sustained direct hits in these operations in which none of our aircraft was lost.

"Simultaneously, a force of medium bombers made sustained attacks on enemy transport and petrol reserves in the woods around Sedan. Attacks also were made upon troop reserves and supply columns. As a result of these operations several fires broke out.

"During yesterday enemy thrusts in the valley of the Meuse were fiercely and successfully attacked. Pontoon bridges were blown up, roads blocked and troops on the march bombed and machine-gunned. The enemy were hampered and harassed at key points and mechanized units received heavy casualties.

INTENSE ACTIVITY

"There has been intense activity in the British Expeditionary Force area today. Bomber squadrons of the R.A.F. have made repeated and determined attacks on mechanized enemy columns and tanks. The enemy advance was supported by bombing aircraft with strong flight protection.

"Nevertheless our bombers made a series of low-flying attacks on an enemy column and inflicted great damage. Bridges were blown up, roads blocked and the advance was checked.

"In support of the French army, a squadron of Bienheims made a sortie this morning to bomb a key position at Gembloux (Belgium). They encountered a large formation of enemy fighters and intense anti-aircraft fire. In spite of gallantry and determination, eleven of our aircraft failed to return.

"R.A.F. fighters were on patrol yesterday before dawn. Two of them above their own airdrome intercepted a formation of nine Dorniers which were about to bomb it. They shot down two and the rest turned tail.

THREE ENEMY SHOT DOWN

"Three enemy aircraft attacked a town in which the R.A.F. was quartered. All three were shot down, one by a Hurricane and the other two by anti-aircraft and machine-gun fire. One German aircraft, hit by fire from a Bofors gun, broke into pieces in the air. Light anti-aircraft batteries defending an R.A.F. airdrome have accounted for at least ten enemy aircraft in the last two days.

"During yesterday in all thirty-five enemy aircraft were accounted for, and preliminary reports indicate that today a further thirty-one were shot down and many more so disabled that it is unlikely that they reached their bases.

"Army co-operation squadrons carried out a large number of artillery and contact reconnaissances.

"In the Scandinavian area bombing aircraft destroyed enemy oil tanks at Bergen. Other aircraft attacked hangars and shipways in Stokke Fjord, which were extensively damaged, while others bombed the Stavanger airdrome where nine fires were started and direct hits were made on runways.

NAZI LOSSES ESTIMATED

"From a careful study of all sources of information it appears that the German air force have lost over 1,000 aircraft since Germany invaded the Low Countries. To this figure must be added the enemy's losses in Poland and in Norway.

"Today's German High Command communique gave losses of Allied aircraft as 1,462. It is thought that the High Command must have published their own losses in error. Allied losses are in fact only a small fraction of the German claims."

RAIDS IN NORWAY

Raids on the Bergen area were described as follows in an Admiralty communique:

"Naval aircraft attacked enemy fuel supplies in the Bergen area yesterday. The destruction of fuel at Slorgaaspynt, which had been demolished in previous attacks, was completed. Two fuel tanks at Strudshaven were blown up. A further two at Knarven were set on fire. All our aircraft returned safely."

CHILDREN TO BE MOVED TO WALES

London Children Billeted in Suffolk To Be Taken to New Haven Sunday

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—Authorities today announced that children who had been removed from London to Suffolk County, on the east coast, would be moved again on Sunday to Wales.

The order affects thousands who were taken out of London at the start of the war to save them from air raids. No reason was given, and one official said: "It came as a bombshell to us."

DELEGATES ARE DINNER GUESTS

B.C. Government Entertains Municipal Officers at Close of Convention

Winding up two days of discussion of matters relating to the duties of municipal staffs, among themselves and with officials of the department of municipal affairs, delegates to the annual meeting of the Municipal Officers' Association of British Columbia were the guests of the Provincial Government at a complimentary dinner last night in the clubhouse of the Royal Colwood Golf Club.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipal Affairs, was chairman of the gathering, and E. H. Bridgman, deputy minister, acted as toastmaster.

At the final session of the convention in the afternoon, the following officers were elected: President, G. H. Dunn, Kelowna; vice-president, H. M. Ansell, North Cowichan; secretary-treasurer, S. L. Brice, Chilliwhack; executive, Miss M. K. Stewart, Hope; G. S. Gay, Merritt; H. L. Bradley, Port Alberni; A. W. Jackson, Kamloops, and Harry Davenport, Maple Ridge.

CREDIT TO OFFICERS

At the dinner meeting, the toast to the province was proposed by R. R. F. Sewell, J.P., honorary life member of the association, and responded to by the minister, who spoke of the members of the association as the practical heads of the municipalities of British Columbia.

"If a municipality is in a sound position today, 90 per cent of the credit is due to its officers," Mr. Gray declared.

Proposing the toast to the association, the deputy minister expressed willingness on behalf of his department to be of the fullest assistance possible to the municipal officers. He referred to the value of the conference just ended, and declared that the money voted by those municipalities that were represented at the meeting had been well spent.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

The president, responding to the toast, expressed appreciation of the active support given to the association by the Minister and his deputy. He remarked that the problems of twenty-two years ago, when the association was formed, were simple in comparison with those confronting the municipalities today, with the present multiplicity of departments and statistical work. The president observed that it was regrettable that many councils still did not see their way clear to facilitate representation in the association.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Dr. G. F. Davidson, provincial social welfare officer, and responded to by Mrs. Norman Baker, Victoria, and a toast to the press was proposed by F. S. Fox, Duncan, and replied to by E. F. Fox.

Vocal solos were contributed by Miss Dorothy Parsons, accompanied by Miss Maquinna Daniels.

that "the situation is serious but is not considered critical."

Mr. Hanson offered the Prime Minister the whole-hearted support of the Conservative Opposition in any measures he might desire to take at the moment in the light of today's news.

Mr. Sinclair drew rounds of applause from the Opposition benches when he declared it was the duty of Canada to make sure the Allied Powers are given prompt supplies of the war materials they need from this Dominion.

Evidence of the Government's intention to expedite the business of Parliament was found in a resolution asking elimination of private member days, which customarily slow up Government business in the first month of a session.

A great flood of departmental reports was tabled by the ministers.

Ambulance Aircraft to Be Gift of Girl Guides

During the week May 19 to 25 the Girl Guides of the Empire will be busy earning money to contribute as their share of the sum of £20,000 which they need to purchase two aircraft ambulances for the use of the R.A.F. and a motor lifeboat for the use of our seamen.

The Chief Commissioner in Great Britain has sent the following appeal to every company and pack in the British Empire:

"Dear Guides,—In this word I include every enrolled member of the movement, both past and present: Will you give half a day to your country? That is what I am asking you to do. Can you catch the vision of it? Can you find a thrill in the thought of all Guides throughout the Empire uniting in this gift to the nation, never more in need of our help than she is today. Let us make this gesture at no small cost to ourselves in the spirit of service, self-sacrifice and humble thanks that so many of life's blessings still are ours.

WORK FOR CONTRIBUTION

"Rangers and Guides, many of you are in jobs and will, I am sure, spare half a day's salary if you possibly can, but to those of you who are not yet earning money, you younger Guides and Brownies, I would say to you give what you can, spare a few of those pennies out of your pocket, which you would otherwise spend on candies, the movies, etc. In the last war we raised £2,500 to provide recreation huts and a motor ambulance. There were only 50,000 of us then—now we are over half a million strong in Great Britain alone—and we want to raise £20,000. Can we do it? Of course we can."

This appeal has been endorsed by the Guide president, the Princess Royal and also by Mrs. H. D. Warren, the Canadian chief commissioner.

In order that the Guides may feel that this gift is definitely their own contribution to the cause, no contribution is too small, but each Guide and Brownie is asked to earn the money she gives, whether by foregoing the candy bar or movie or by subscribing half a day's pay.

VICTORIA'S EFFORTS

British Columbia Guides and Brownies have a proud record to maintain. Many of the companies contributed towards the recreation huts given in the last war, and the Second West Victoria and Fourth East Victoria Companies still possess certificates drawn by the Chief Scout and signed by the Chief Guide and thanking them for their contributions.

The Province possesses a tattered and faded old blue flag, the Canadian Girl Guide Flag, which flew over the Canadian Girl Guide hut in France. At the end of the war it was brought back to England and given to the Chief Scout. He sent it over to the Canadian Chief Commissioner, Mrs. H. D. Warren, and when the Jubilee Guide Camp was held in Victoria in 1927, the Dominion executive committee presented the flag to British Columbia in recognition of the work of the province in organizing the camp. It will be flown at the Guide rally in Vancouver on June 1, and at the Victoria rally in the grounds of Government House on June 26.

Guides are contributing to the Empire gift for this war through their companies. Contributions will also be welcomed from ex-Guides and all who are interested in the movement. Through the courtesy of David Spencer, Ltd., a collecting box will be placed in the postoffice of Spencer's store from May 19 to 25, or cheques or money orders may be sent direct to the provincial office of the Girl Guides in Vancouver.

Mrs. Justwed: I want a sober, honest and civil maid.

Manageress of Registry: Certainly. Would you like to see all three now?

TODAY'S RECIPE

CHOCOLATE Macaroons—Two egg whites, one cup sugar, quarter teaspoon salt, half teaspoon vanila, one-half square Baker's chocolate (melted). One-half cup of shredded coconut or cornflakes. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Continue until mixture stands in peaks. Add salt and vanila. Fold in chocolate, then coconut or cornflakes. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325 Fahr.) twenty minutes or until done. Cool five minutes before removing from paper. Makes two dozen one-half-inch macaroons.

N.B.—These delicious macaroons were served at a tea held recently by the Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., which has a flair for good things to eat.—Prudence.

Girl Guide Notes

SOUTH VANCOUVER ISLAND

The South Vancouver Island Division of Girl Guides will hold a church parade at the Cathedral tomorrow at 3 p.m. Guides will march off from the corner of Pandora and Vancouver Streets at 2:30 o'clock, and will proceed by way of Vancouver and Burdett to the Cathedral. Very Rev. S. H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, will conduct the service and give the address, and it is expected that a large body of Boy Scouts and the Canadian Girls in Training will be present at the service, as well as many representatives of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, while parents, members of the associations and parents' committees and all who are interested, will be most welcome.

Emphasize Necessity For Prayer

The great need for more and more prayer and a deepening of faith was emphasized at the meeting of the Diocesan Board of Columbia W.A., which was held yesterday at St. Saviour's Church. Rev. F. V. Venables, in his address at the morning service, and Mrs. F. J. Brimer, the president, in her afternoon address, as well as Mrs. Barnett, prayer partner secretary, speaker at the afternoon session, all made special reference to the need for prayer in these critical times.

Encouraging reports were read by the various officers. Miss Mott, Dorcas secretary, spoke of the gift of binoculars for the mission ship Rendezvous. The educational secretary, Miss Lee, told of the prayer booklets for use during the war sent out by the W.A. war emergency committee. Mrs. Frew, girls' work secretary, spoke of the girls' library to be formed, and gave a report of the girls' rally of the branches at Courtenay, which she had attended. Mrs. Osborne was welcomed back after her illness, and Mrs. F. C. Nivin was congratulated on her recent appointment as a honorary member of the executive.

A letter of thank was read from the Columbia Coast Mission for brass vases and cross sent to the Indian church at Fort Rupert, the oldest trading post of the Hudson's Bay Company on the Coast. The Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. E. J. Harris, reported having met four branches Up-Island recently. It was decided that a delegate should be sent to the Dominion annual meeting in Toronto.

Mrs. Evans, president of St. Saviour's branch, welcomed the members, and Rev. F. V. Venables, rector of the church, was the celebrant at the service of Holy Communion, assisted by his son, Rev. Cyril Venables. A vote of thanks was expressed by Mrs. Osborne to Mr. Venables and his son.

Parish Marks Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

St. Luke's W.A. celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary on Thursday afternoon, with a social in the Parish Hall, to which a number of charter members and friends were invited. The hall was beautifully decorated with early Summer blooms.

The tea tables were centred with vases of roses, which also formed the decorations for the long serving table, the latter being centred with a three-tier birthday cake, kindly donated by Mrs. Hunter, who also presented the honor guests with corsage bouquets of yellow rosebuds and lily of the valley. Presiding at the tea urns were two charter members, Miss M. Holmes and Mrs. Hunter. Dorothy Drury give a pleasing pianoforte selection and vocal solos were rendered by Miss L. Dighton and Miss Barbara Dawson, the accompanists being Mrs. M. C. Trueman and Mrs. C. Fred Dawson.

A pleasant ceremony took place during the afternoon, this being the presentation of a diocesan life membership to Mrs. J. Kingsbury, who has been the branch treasurer for a number of years. Mrs. L. Brimer, diocesan president, read the service, and Mrs. H. Eastwood, president of St. Luke's Branch, pinned on the badge and presented the certificate. Mrs. L. C. Lytton presented Mrs. Kingsbury with a sheaf of pink carnations. Congratulations were extended to the branch by Mrs. Brimer, Miss L. Turner (diocesan president twenty-five years ago), Mrs. F. Jennings (vice-president of St. Alban's W.A.), and Rev. Frederic Pike (rector of St. Luke's).

Canadians Would Harbor Refugees

TORONTO, May 17 (CP).—Miss Margaret Hyndman, head of the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women, disclosed today 100,000 Canadian homes are prepared to take in refugee children from Europe.

The announcement was made after Senator Cairine Wilson said at Ottawa she had received a cable yesterday from Sir Charles Stead, London, head of the movement for the care of children from Germany and German-occupied countries, emphasizing need for action.

Senator Wilson, chairman of the Canadian National committee on refugees and victims of political persecution, plans to urge in the Senate that immediate Government action be taken in this regard. The same policy would be advocated by a private member in the House of Commons.

Officials of the Voluntary Registration for Canadian Women have on hand all the necessary information concerning the homes ready to care for refugee children. Already 25,000 cards with all the details concerning the homes have been forwarded to Ottawa and they are going out at the rate of 1,000 weekly.

The information was obtained in a questionnaire submitted to the women of Canada. Some of the homes are prepared to care for three to five children, either free or for remuneration.

A flashlight was presented to a young man leaving the district to serve overseas. Plans were made to celebrate the institute's twenty-fifth anniversary at the June meeting, when each member will bring a friend. All old members will be invited. Mrs. A. Canadian Named Head of League

SEATTLE, May 17 (AP).—Selection of Kansas City, Mo., for its fortieth anniversary convention next year, election of its president from the Canadian side of the international boundary, and establishment of a new community service department—combining the welfare, children's theatre and arts departments—climaxed the five-day convention of the Association of Junior Leagues of America today.

Mrs. George V. Ferguson, Winnipeg, was elevated, without opposition, from the association secretaryship to succeed Miss Helen Walton Leovy, Pittsburgh, as president.

The delegates, representing 150 leagues in Canada, the United States, Mexico and Hawaii, composed of women who volunteer part of their leisure time to social service projects, elected Mrs. James Ingram, Buffalo, N.Y., to succeed Mrs. Ferguson as secretary.

Mrs. Ferguson, wife of the managing editor of The Winnipeg Free Press and former physical education teacher, is the mother of two children. She said she is interested, particularly, in the need for combatting totalitarianism by preserving the democracy under which volunteer organizations, such as the junior leagues, may operate.

Graduating Class Is Urged to Cultivate Flexibility of Mind

Dr. J. M. Ewing, of Normal School, Vancouver, Addresses Matriculation Students of Mount View High School at Annual Banquet

POINTING out that education is a continuous thing that does not end with graduation, Dr. J. M. Ewing, of the Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, last night urged the 1940 graduation class of Mount View High School to cultivate flexibility of mind, an objective point of view, and an eagerness of spirit, as they emerge into the world in which their future lies.

Guest speaker at the annual graduating banquet held in the school auditorium, the visiting educationist said that the value of schooling lay in the sound, fundamental ideas given students, which stand the test of time and form the basis for subsequent growth of the mind.

Miss Jessie Swales, president of the student council, presided over the gathering, which numbered well over a hundred, and included council and school board representatives, parents, teachers and students.

IDEAL BEFORE TEACHERS

Dr. Ewing told the graduating students that it used to be thought that an educated person was simply one who was filled with facts he got out of books, but now the ideal before teachers was to produce Canadian citizens of the highest type.

"In some other countries, they produce other types," he declared, "and we can today look at the results with considerable trepidation. For whatever spirit dominates a country, that is the mould to which the school fits in. Our schools seek to develop ideals of the finest type."

In extending best wishes to the boys and girls, Dr. Ewing suggested that they cultivate sincerity, avoid conceit, develop good manners and forbearance, an interest in others, and conversational ability, in order to obtain happiness and gain the "crowning gift of friendship."

PROFOUND ROLE

Proposing the toast to the school board, Jim Smith said that since education played a profound role in democracy, the administrators have a great responsibility, and the school board was second to none in importance in the work of the municipality. In response, Captain Nathaniel Gray, chairman of the board, reminded the graduating class that it was going out into the world equipped with the things they had been taught, and that the test lay ahead was what they had been trained for.

Miss Florence paid tribute to the work of the Parent-Teacher Association, and voiced the thanks of the students for the recreational, sporting and other amenities provided by the association for their welfare. In reply, Mrs. W. Palliser, vice-president of the P.-T.A., expressed appreciation for the cooperation given by the board, the staff and the students, and offered congratulations to the graduates.

THANKS TO STAFF

Thanks to the school staff were voiced by Chris Pratt, who commended the personal interest taken in the welfare of the students, which drew from Miss C. M. Tervo, of the staff, the hope that the future years would hold many happy memories and a life full of achievement for those about to complete their school career.

J. M. Thomas, principal of the school, pledged the toast to the graduating class, and charged them to remember the school motto, "He indeed conquers who conquers himself," which he said contained a lesson they could incorporate into the behaviour and practice of life as they journeyed on.

LASTING MEMORY

In reply, Miss Loraine Saul expressed thanks for the praise extended to the class, and called on her colleagues to make the remaining month at school a pleasure, and leave a lasting memory behind.

Robert Little, for the Hi-Y Club, presented to the school a silver cup for annual competition in school leadership, and Miss Swales presented Miss Loraine Small with a certificate of award as valedictorian of the graduating class. A vote of thanks to Miss Swales was moved by Miss Florence Greenwood, vice-president of the student council.

Entertainment was provided by Audrey Mills, piano solo; Dorothy Smith, vocalist, and Marie Vowles, violin solo. The evening closed with a dance.

ALL SERENE

Little Mary was left to prepare the meal. When the mother returned with a friend she noticed that Mary had the tea strained. "Did you find the lost strainer?" mother asked.

"No, mother, I couldn't, so I used the fly swatter."

Mother nearly swooned so Mary hastily added: "Don't get excited, mother; I used the old one."

FLYERS DIE IN ONTARIO

Four Officers of Royal Canadian Air Force Killed In Plane Crash

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Four officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force station at Trenton, Ont., were killed today when a Moorduyn Norseman aircraft crashed near Grafton, Ont., the National Defence Department said in an official statement issued here, while a court inquiry to determine the cause of the crash was opened.

Those killed were Flight Lieutenant H. B. Jasper, Winnipeg; Flying Officer J. E. Pidcock, Montreal; Flying Officer G. E. Auld, Toronto, and Aircraftsman J. R. Kean, Windsor, Ont.

The statement said the bodies of the four men were found by a search party from Trenton in the cabin when the plane was finally extricated from a swamp, where it had crashed.

The party, engaged in a cross-country night navigation flight, left the R.C.A.F. station at Camp Borden shortly after midnight last night following its arrival from Trenton, the statement said.

Later the aircraft reported over Malton airport, Toronto, and in the vicinity of Port Hope. After that, no further reports were received.

NOT AVAILABLE

Complete details were not available here, but it was believed from reports that the plane crashed shortly after midnight, about fifteen miles north of Cobourg.

Reports from Cobourg said the wreckage was spread for 100 yards around the spot where the machine came down.

The remains of the plane were not found until about 3 a.m., and at that time there was no trace of the crew.

Farmers around Eddystone reported they heard the roar of a low-flying plane shortly before midnight. Later they saw a flare and, near the wreckage a parachute flare was found.

WELL KNOWN

MONTREAL, May 17 (CP).—Flying Officer Jack E. Pidcock and Flying Officer George E. Auld, killed today with two other Royal Canadian Air Force officers in an airplane crash near Trenton, Ont., both were prominently known here, where they lived until little more than a month ago.

Flying Officer Pidcock, who had been in the insurance business here since 1931, was a centre player for University of Manitoba, Allan Cup hockey champions in 1928.

STOPPED THE NEEDLES

Lord Sankey tells his story of the first woman to sit on a jury in England.

She took out her knitting when the evidence began. At last Lord Sankey could bear the sound no longer. He asked her to stop.

"I always listen best when I am knitting," she said.

But a male juror chipped in: "I listen best when I am smoking."

That "clicked"—and the needles didn't.

LEFT NORWAY JUST IN TIME

English Couple Now in Victoria Escaped on Last Ship To Leave Bergen

Escaping from Norway on the last trans-Atlantic liner to leave Bergen before the German invasion, Mr. and Mrs. John Pearson, English couple now staying at the Empress Hotel, propose to remain here in the quiet and beautiful surroundings that appeal to them so much.

They have traveled all over the world and experienced war in more than one hemisphere, and are ready to regard this city as a haven of refuge from less favored parts of the earth. Mr. Pearson was a resident of the Far East for thirty-eight years, and knows China, Japan, the Dutch East Indies and India at first hand.

"We left Bergen on the Sunday before the Germans invaded Norway," Mr. Pearson said. "The Bergensfjord, an old ship, was crowded with people, including many Germans, all eager to get away from the danger zone. The ship headed into the North Sea and escaped the mine and submarine menace, taking the northerly route to New York."

RAN THE GAUNTLET

He said that when the ship picked up the news of the occupation of Norwegian ports by the Germans, the captain was in a dilemma as to what course he should take, since the Germans were sending out confusing radio messages, but decided to run the gauntlet with the ship ablaze with lights. The ruse worked and they reached the open Atlantic safely.

Mr. Pearson was attached to the British Legation in Oslo during his stay in Norway. He said that Narvik is a place of no military value except as the terminus of the railway running to the Swedish ore mines. Only the Norwegian pilots know the rock-strewn fjords, death-traps to shipping, he said. He paid a tribute to the British navy in tackling the German naval vessels in those tricky waters.

TAKE VOLUNTARY TRAINING COURSE

Membership in Officers' Training Association Shows Increase—New Company to Be Formed

Membership in the Officers' Voluntary Training Association, organized in Victoria last February, has now reached a total of 115, it was announced yesterday by Colonel James Lightbody, commandant of the unit. At present there are four platoons, but it is expected that a second company will be formed shortly to take care of the increasing enrollments.

Serving to bring up to date the experience gained in previous campaigns, the association was formed with the object of providing a measure of military training with a view to fitting the members to become efficient officers as and when their services may be required.

All members are required to take the oath of service and to hold themselves ready to serve in the armed forces in any capacity, in any theatre of action, and to aid the civil powers. Training drills and lectures on military subjects are held at the Armoury each Monday and Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Major P. T. Stern is second in command of the company, with Lieutenant M. A. Bridgmen as adjutant.

Island Resort Folder Issued

Official guide to the holiday resorts on Vancouver Island, 35,000 copies of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau's annual folder were ready for distribution yesterday, to individual inquirers and in parcels to travel bureaux and tourist organizations, particularly on the Pacific Coast.

The 1940 folder differs from last year's guide in that it contains a signed invitation from Prime Minister Mackenzie King for United States citizens to visit Canada this year, and a message to prospective visitors pointing out that the war has not caused the imposition of any restrictions upon entry into the Dominion or travel within its borders. The folder also points out the monetary advantage to the United States tourist afforded by the exchange premium.

HOMER IN THE ELEVENTH GIVES CINCINNATI WIN

LOMBARDI'S SMASH WITH BAGS LOADED DECIDES 7-2 TUSSLE

Reds' Big Catcher Smacks One Out of Lot to Break Up Extra-Inning Battle—Dodgers Capture Close Game—Cleveland Trims Washington—Yankees Trounce Chicago

(By The Canadian Press)

The American League's second-place Cleveland Indians overpowered Washington Senators, 18-1, today in a grotesque game, which provided Southpaw Al Milnar his fourth straight victory.

Rookie Sidney Hudson, who started for the Senators, passed out five walks and a hit before Rene Monteagudo replaced him with none out in the first. Monteagudo wasn't much better, giving two passes and four hits, and running the Indians' first-inning total to ten runs.

Cleveland added five more off Joe Krakauskas, so Infielder Charley Gelbert went to the box for Washington in the sixth. Gelbert retired the Indians in order that inning, but was touched in the seventh for Jeff Heath's second homer of the game, and for two more tallies on three hits in the eighth.

Looking something like world champions again, New York Yankees accumulated six runs on six hits to wallop Chicago White Sox, 6-1, in an American League baseball game behind the five-hit hurling of Rookie Marvin Breuer.

DODGERS TRIUMPH

Making another try after getting batted out of he box in the first inning two days ago, Whitlow Wyatt scattered seven hits to pace Brooklyn to a 4-3 victory over St. Louis Cardinals and keep the Dodgers within a half game of the National League leaders, Cincinnati Reds.

Babe Phelps and Dolph Camilli, of Brooklyn, and Don Padgett, of the Cards, hit homers.

Claude Passeau held New York Giants to two singles, both by Joe Moore, in pitching a 4-0 shutout for Chicago Cubs.

Stan Hack, Chicago's star third baseman, was struck a glancing blow on the head by a ball batted by teammate Hank Leiber. He was carried from the field and taken to hospital.

Dr. C. R. Palmer, the Giants' team physician, said he did not believe the injury was serious.

A grand slam by Ivan Goodman—a homer with the bases full—kept Cincinnati Reds in first place in the National League.

Goodman's blast came with two out in the eleventh inning and gave the Reds a 7-2 victory over the fifth-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Jackie Paterson Is Gunning for Canadian Crown

A FEW years ago Murray Patrick, defence star with the New York Rangers Hockey Club in the National League, went to Edmonton and returned to the city with the Canadian heavyweight boxing title. Today another young Victorian, Jackie Paterson, accompanied by his manager and trainer, Tommy Drysdale and Ernie Rivers, respectively, will head for Cardston, Alberta, where he will attempt to emulate Patrick. The local lad will also fight for the heavyweight crown during the two-day tournament, on May 23 and 24. Trainer Rivers announced yesterday that Paterson is in fine shape, and his right hand, which was injured several months ago, is thoroughly healed and is as sound as ever. The trio will be in the Alberta city several days before the meet opens, in order to acclimatize themselves. Paterson is the present holder of the British Columbia title. If he wins the national honors he will most likely turn professional, Manager Drysdale said last night.

Dark Comet Taken From King's Plate Race in the East

Winter-Book Favorite Withdrawn at Last Minute, Due to Injury Suffered in Recent Workout—Twelve Horses Will Face Starter Today—Three-Way Battle Is Predicted

TORONTO, May 17 (CP).—Twelve horses—three of them representing the stable of R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa motor magnate—will trot on the track at Woodbine Park tomorrow to match strides in the eighty-first running of the King's Plate.

Withdrawal of the Winter-book favorite, Dark Comet, at the last moment threw the nine furlongs gallop wide open. The winner will receive 50 guineas, donated by the King, and the major portion of a $7,500 added purse.

George M. Hendrie, of Hamilton, decided not to enter the gelding after a last-minute examination by a veterinary. Dark Comet pulled up lame after a workout a week ago. The Hendrie Stable will be represented by Storm Light, a little regarded filly.

With the favorite out, a three-way battle among Hood, Curwen and Frobisher was predicted. They have progressed nicely through the long training grind and have been declared fit and ready.

Hood, owned by Jack McIntyre, of Toronto, stands out as the solid horse in a mediocre field. The chestnut colt was campaigned heavily as a two-year-old and showed plenty of speed and stamina.

He has developed into a stalwart three-year-old and has been brought up to the race in fine condition.

H. C. Hatch's Curwen and R. S. McLaughlin's Frobisher also have received rigid preparation. McLaughlin also named Fafryn and Abydos to carry his colors. Neither won a race last year.

THIRD ROUND MATCHES SET

English Wartime Cup Soccer Series Will Continue in Old Country

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—Competition for the English Football League's war cup features the United Kingdom's week-end sports card for the fifth successive week. Sixteen clubs go into the third round of the tournament tomorrow.

Seven major leaguers and eight Second Division squads remain in the battle for the wartime trophy. Bristol Rovers are the sole representatives of the Third Division, having survived preliminary round games in addition to the two rounds of the competition proper. In earlier stages home-and-home contests were played, but tomorrow the clubs revert to sudden-death games.

Teams eliminated from cup warfare will return to regional group fixtures. In Scotland some clubs have completed their schedules but a number of matches are down for decision. Rangers were returned Western champions some weeks ago and Falkirk cannot be ousted from top berth in the Eastern section.

Arsenal and Birmingham clash in London in one game between major leaguers but perhaps the tightest struggle will be played at Liverpool, where Everton and Stoke City, two of the country's strongest squads, are opposed.

Leader of the Northeast division, Huddersfield Town, is at home to West Ham United, and Bristol Rovers will have a big job on their hands at Newcastle after the long journey from the South.

The third-round draw:

Fulham vs. Notts Forest.

Everton vs. Stoke City.

Huddersfield Town vs. West Ham United.

Coventry City vs. West Bromwich Albion.

Barnsley vs. Blackpool.

Arsenal vs. Birmingham.

Blackburn Rovers vs. Sunderland

Newcastle United vs. Bristol Rovers

Hogan Leads in $5,000 Tourney By Five Points

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—Though he fell down a flight of stairs last night and injured his back, young Ben Hogan, of White Plains, N.Y., still was able to put together a 68-73 over the Fresh Meadow Country Club course today, and take a lead over his fourteen professional rivals in the Goodall Round Robin golf tournament.

With four more hard rounds of match play yet to be crowded into tomorrow and Sunday, Hogan tonight was five points ahead of Paul Runyan and Jimmy Thomson. Hogan had twelve "plus" points after three rounds, while Thomson and Runyan each owned seven points. Thomson shot rounds of 76-71 today, Runyan 71-72, on a par-70 layout.

A "point" is scored in this unique affair when a player finishes one-up over an opponent. All matches go eighteen holes.

Bimelech Expected To Top Field Today In $17,000 Withers

Col. Bradley's Great Horse Is Quoted at 2 to 5 to Capture Race at Belmont—Win Will Boost Earnings to Over $200,000

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—Bimelech looks at a set of new faces tomorrow in the sixty-fifth running of the ancient Withers mile at Belmont Park, but it shouldn't make much difference to him.

Ten others have elected to go with the boss-apparent of the three-year-olds at a shorter distance than he ran in either the Kentucky Derby, where Gallahadion whipped him, or the Preakness, where he made a show of his field. Of these ten, only two — Joseph E. Widener's Roman and Tony Pelleteri's Andy K — faced Colonel E. R. Bradley's star in either of the two previous stakes.

The advance odds makers established him at 2 to 5. His chief rival was regarded as Roman, who finished sixth in the Derby after showing a world of speed for six furlongs.

Victory will be worth some $17,000 to the winner if all start. In Bimmie's case, it would boost his earnings over the $200,000 mark.

Jokers Turn Back Alerts in Boxla Game at Willows

Register First Victory in Senior Circuit by Nosing Out Leaders, 13-11—Morley Maggs Turns In Brilliant Game in Goal—Rally of Alerts In the Last Period Falls Short

HOW THEY STAND

Senior League

	P.	W.	L.	Pts.
Alerts	3	2	1	4
James Bay	2	1	1	2
Jokers	3	1	2	2

Last night's scores:

Jokers 13, Alerts 11.

Juniors—McLean's Bakery 15, Owl Drug 10.

Next games—Tuesday, seniors, Jokers vs. James Bay; juniors, Owl Drug vs. Douglas Tire.

Coach Gus Munroe's Jokers' stickhandlers climbed aboard the winning boxla van last night at the Victoria Sports Centre, when they checked in with a 13-11 triumph over the league-leading Alerts. Playing a vastly improved game, and showing better team work and coordination than their opponents, the black-clad gutted stick artists established a 5-2 first quarter lead and were never headed.

But all of the real excitement and thrilling moments came in the final quarter, and what a session it was. Alerts, on the short end of a 12-5 score, started a final period "blitzkrieg" and only just missed the boat. They tore in for six goals and with pandemonium reigning in the large building, it looked for a moment as if the Jokers' forces were going to fall. But Keith Ludbrook, smart young centre, saved the day in dramatic fashion, when he raced through opposing stickhandlers and bagged the thirteenth goal for his clubmates twenty-five seconds from time.

INDIVIDUAL PLAY

Alerts looked exceptionally ragged for three quarters. Their play was more of an individual nature, with their earlier team work missing. Players decided to try and go through the entire Jokers' team instead of passing the ball, and it just did not work.

But credit must go to the Jokers. Admittedly the weak sisters of the league two weeks ago, Coach Gus Munroe's boys did a real job last night. They hung closely to their checks and worked like Trojans all evening. One young man, Morley Maggs, the Jokers' goalie, was a thorn in the side of the attackers. Tested frequently during the evening, Maggs turned in his best performance since he first donned the pads and mask a few years ago. There were times when shots rattled off his leather pad like machine gun pellets, but was cool as ever and steady under fire.

Munroe trotted out a youngster by the name of Andy Ovcharick, a brother of Carl Ovcharick, smooth-functioning centre of the Alerts. Two years younger, the new arrival strengthened the Jokers' squad and will probably be heard from frequently in future battles.

Scoring honors were fairly evenly divided, with Wally Williams, Alerts' sharpshooter, being top man for the evening with three tallies.

SUMMARY

First quarter—Alerts 2, Jokers 5.
Second quarter—Alerts 3, Jokers 5.

BAKERY SQUAD WINS

Playing in the curtain raiser McLean's Bakery defeated Owl Drug, 15-10, in a junior game. Bakerymen set up a 5-4 lead in the first quarter, but the druggists pulled up at the half time eventually sharing an 8-8 tie. In the third stanza McLean's outscored Owl Drug, 4-2, and added three markers in the final period and at the same time held their opponents scoreless.

Officials—Levy and Alexander.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE Jimmy Cricket, one of the leading characters in Walt Disney's second full-length production, Pinocchio, which ends today at the Atlas Theatre, is nagging at his boss to purchase Dickens' "The Cricket on the Hearth" as a starring vehicle to follow his success in "Pinocchio." So far, Disney refuses to commit himself as to his future plans regarding Jimmy.

CAPITOL THEATRE "Virginia City," starring Errol Flynn, Miriam Hopkins and Randolph Scott, will end today at the Capitol Theatre. Based on a true episode from the roaring chapters of American history during the 1860's, it tells the story of the battle of wits and brawn between Flynn and Scott, as representatives of the North and South during the Civil War.

CADET THEATRE One of the year's longest and strongest motion picture casts brings a refreshing assortment of music, comedy and drama to Universal's film, "The Under Pup," which ends today at the Capitol Theatre. Introducing the eleven-year-old singing and acting newcomer, Gloria Jean, and also starring the romantic team of Robert Cummings and Nan Grey, the film boasts top talent in all branches of production.

DOMINION THEATRE One of the season's sprightliest comedies, "Three Cheers for the Irish," is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. The film stars Thomas Mitchell, charming Priscilla Lane and Dennis Morgan. The story concerns Peter Casey, a retired New York policeman, who finds life very difficult when his daughters encourage him to run for alderman.

OAK BAY THEATRE Billy Gilbert, noted comedian, appears as an indignant and explosive waiter in Universal's "Rio," the picture which stars Basil Rathbone and Victor McLaglen with Sigrid Gurie, and will end at the Oak Bay Theatre today. George Davis, formerly a member of the famous Poodles Hanneford circus equestrian team, also plays a comedy role in the production.

Both sides of the Atlantic Ocean are used as background for the hilarious comedy farce.

RIO THEATRE Rated as the most popular of outdoor actors on the screen today, George O'Brien enacts the part of a border cattleman in his latest R.K.O. Radio vehicle, "Bullet Code," which ends today at the Rio Theatre. The operation of a group of rustlers and the solution of a mystery regarding the death of a cowboy, are both woven into the story. IN OTHER WORDS

Inspecting the local shops, the new resident paused outside the butcher's. Then she started in amazement as voices came to her.

First, in a gruff voice: "'Urry, John, look sharp. Break the bones in Mrs. Williams' chops and put Mrs. Smith's ribs in the basket."

The reply came briskly: "Right, sir! Just as soon as I've sawn off Mrs. Murphy's leg."

TOM McPHERSON IS CHOSEN HEAD

T. S. "Tom" McPherson was elected president of the Colwood Golf Club at the annual meeting held in the clubhouse during the week. Brian Hunnings is the new captain, while the executive committee will be comprised of A. Dennison, F. H. A. Norton, J. E. Golding and A. Dale-Davies.

The financial report submitted showed the affairs of the club to be in excellent shape. The report was one of the best presented to the members for some time. The membership has shown a decided increase and the directors are very optimistic regarding the future of the club. A large turnout of members attended.

SEATTLE BOOKIES ARE CLOSED DOWN

SEATTLE, May 17 (AP)—All but one Seattle horse race bookmakers' office was closed today after the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company cut off phone service to twenty-seven establishments. The company would offer no comment.

Track followers had only one channel open: to wager with a "pocket bookie" well before post time and await results that come through regular news channels.

The Times said that if the bookies remain closed, it will be the collapse of the local arm of the horse racing news empire built up by M. L. "Moe" Annenberg, now under Federal indictments growing out of race betting interests.

A FAR, FAR BETTER THING

Magistrate's Clerk: "Why haven't you paid this fine?" Man: "When I had the money to pay, my wife wanted a new hat." Clerk: "And you gave her the money for the new hat?" Man: "Yes, I thought you would be more lenient than she would be if I refused."

Next Game

Tonight, Eagles vs. Pitzer & Nex, Royal Athletic Park, at 6 o'clock.

One big innings, the third, when they punched out seven safeties, including a circuit blow by Harry Barber, left fielder, and pushed across seven runs, last night paved the way to victory for the Tillicum Athletics over the Navy in a senior ball game at Royal Athletic Park.

Clubbers tossed in a pair of doubles during the attack on Vreeland, young sailor hurler, and Barber's Ruthian swat with two mates on the cushions. Two miscues by Navy infielders did not help matters one little bit.

SAILORS RALLY

On the short end of an 8-1 score going into the seventh, sailors made things interesting for the Athletics and the fans when they started to get to the offerings of Chuck Rowe, opposing pitcher. Navy sluggers bunched two singles and a double and received two free trips to the initial cushion to assist them in scoring five runs. Porter's two-base clout, scoring three markers, ended Rowe's sojourn on the hillock and Walker, husky first sacker and twirler, was sent to the rescue. He checked the sailors in quick time and halted any additional scoring.

Vreeland, Navy pitcher, had one bad inning, the third, when the clubbers bunched six of their eleven base blows. Chuck Rowe, Athletics' starting pitcher, gave up seven safeties and six runs during his sojourn on the slab.

Rowe was top sticker for the evening, getting two safeties, a double and a single out of three trips to the plate. There were a number of smart catches in the outer gardens, with Whalen, clubbers' shortstop, racing well over behind third base to take Patrick's high fly.

Leaders Slip in New York Mart As Rally Fading

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—War fear psychology gripped the stock market today and leading issues slipped 1 to more than 9 points at the worst; many to new lows for the past two weeks.

Early attempts to extend yesterday's rally, based on the Administration's billion dollar defence expansion programme, met with failure. Steels and aircrafts, up at the start, soon began to crumble and were the principal losers during the remainder of the session.

The ticker tape frequently was late and, in the latter part of the final hour, fell seven minutes behind flood transactions. In the concluding period more than 1,000,000 shares changed hands. A little support came in near the finish and pivotal stocks managed to come back 1 to 2 points or so from bottom levels.

The foreign picture apparently more than offset bullishness over the huge rearmament plans, expected to buoy steel, aircraft and other industries.

Another break in wheat futures at Chicago helped chill sentiment; this cereal finished off 3 1-2 to 5 cents a bushel.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks ended with a drop of 2 points net at 41.3, low mark for this composite since June 20, 1938. Transfers totaled 3,074,340 shares compared with 2,335,180 the day before.

Principal weak spots included Du Pont at 161, off 8 points; Chrysler 61 3-4, off 7 7-8; Douglas Aircraft 82 1-8, off 7 3-8; Bethlehem Steel 77 off 7; and Westinghouse 89 1-2, off 6 3-4.

Railroad and utility bonds were battered down today as much as 6 points.

Indicative of how closely the market was tied to war developments was the runup of major fractions to more than 3 points in German and Danish Government bonds and a drop of 2 5-8 in French bonds. Italian Governments and Municipals were higher.

DOW JONES AVERAGES

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty industrials, 124.18, off 6.25.
Twenty rails, 24.81, off 1.39.
Fifteen utilities, 19.87, off 1.11.
Total sales, 3,070,000.

WHEAT FUTURES DIPPING AT CLOSE

WINNIPEG, May 17 (CP).—A sharp dip in the dying minutes left wheat futures prices as much as 5 cents lower at the close of today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

After fluctuating nervously quotations yielded under pressure prompted by a sudden break at Chicago and finished 4 1-2 to 5 cents down, May at 70 3-8, July 71 3-8 and October 73 5-8 cents a bushel.

A good export business in Canadian wheat and flour was given credit for much of the early steadiness. It was estimated that at least 500,000 bushels of flour and 100,000 bushels of wheat had been sold overseas.

In the coarse grain pit May and July flax skidded the 10-cent maximum and October flax tumbled 9 3-4 cents. Rye slumped more than 4 cents while barley tumbled 3 3-8 to 2 7-8 a bushel and oats lost 1 1-2 to 2 1-8.

Cash wheat trade was quiet.

WHEAT SEEDING BEING RESUMED

Changeable Weather Delays Work of Many Prairie Grain Growers

WINNIPEG, May 17—Seeding operations on the Prairies, delayed by changeable weather during the past week, have now been resumed practically everywhere, the Canadian Pacific Railway's crop report said today.

Wheat seeding summary: Manitoba, nearing completion, estimate 97 per cent (same time last year was finished).

Saskatchewan, 67 per cent (last year 97 per cent).

Alberta, 33 per cent (last year 93 per cent).

Peace River, 56 per cent (last year finished).

In Manitoba oats and barley are about 65 per cent sown, about 28 per cent in Saskatchewan and very little in Alberta.

Growth has not been rapid, but some early-sown wheat is appearing and shows even germination for the most part.

Heavy rain and some wet snow fell where it was most needed, namely in North Central and Northwest Manitoba and in East Central Saskatchewan, improving conditions greatly.

MORE MOISTURE NEEDED

In north central and northeastern sections of Saskatchewan, however, precipitation was light and more moisture is needed.

Scattered showers and rains fell in Alberta. Moisture conditions continue favorable in the Peace River.

In Alberta about 70 per cent of the sugar beet crop is seeded, with estimated acreage of 23,800, as compared with 22,500 in 1939.

All crops are showing favorable development in British Columbia, with satisfactory moisture, although more warm sunshine would benefit the Kootenay and Arrow Lake districts. Heavy apple yield of most varieties is indicated, and stone fruits mostly appear to be setting well. Shipments of early strawberries are commencing at Mission.

Some frost was experienced in Manitoba and Saskatchewan on Monday and Tuesday nights, but no damage was reported.

LOST SUNRISE

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

(Copyright, 1940, by Kathleen Norris)

CHAPTER VI

Fortunately for Gwen the wedding-morning excitement began almost as soon as the June sun was up, and absorbed her, whether she would or no., until long after the actual ceremony.

The bride had been so lovely, the groom so obviously proud and happy, the company so harmonious, the dresses and flowers so successful that the first Washburton wedding in many years went off to a chorus of praise and enjoyment. Poor or rich, successful or failures, the Washburtons were numbered among the town's first families, and everyone, Nuttals and Saunderses, and Carters and other great folk from Crescent Manor all came and were cordial and familiar, calling Sheila's father "Peter" and Sheila's Aunt Sis "Isabel" and generally adding glamor to the gay scene.

The old house looked its best, too. Shabby, of course, but airy and spacious and elegant in its faded way, and the old silver and china were not to be eclipsed by any in town. The junior Peter was everywhere, handsome and helpful and amusing, and the senior Peter behaved with dignity and charm. Uncle Elmer disappeared early from the scene and did not come back until discovered in the basement, where the drinkables had been stored, long after the last guest had disappeared.

Sheila came running downstairs in her brown silk at about two o'clock, and was snatched and kissed and passed laughing and breathless, from hand to hand. Then Link got possession of her, and they raced down to the ribbon-trimmed car, in a storm of rice, and went around it to a quiet little car parked just on the other side, and so departed in gales of protest and merriment for their new home and their new life.

"And how perfect it would have been if only — if only —" Gwen's thoughts said over and over, as Gwen's voice said, "Yes, wasn't? . . . Wasn't she? But then she's always beautiful. Sheila . . . Miss her? Oh, I began missing her days ago."

The company drifted away as Gwen descended the stairs later in the afternoon, a man who had been standing in the open doorway, looking out into the shadowless, soft late light of the garden and street, turned around and came toward her.

He was a squarely built man of something less than thirty with a rather square heavy face that somehow matched his wide shoulders and strong square hands. His thick curly hair, brushed back recently with a wet brush, was black; he was dark-skinned, with a blunt-tipped nose and a strong wide mouth. But the eyes, framed in heavy brows and black lashes, were surprisingly blue, and rather contradicted the almost stern expression of his face. He did not smile as he came forward to shake hands. Gwen guided him into the living-room.

"Dick Latimer!" she said, pleased. "I didn't know you were in town! But what's the matter?"

The last phrase was added with concern, for his look had warned her that something was wrong.

"Nothing," he answered somewhat unsteadily. "I just thought—I came down yesterday—I thought I'd come in."

He spoke so confusedly that Gwen merely continued to regard him expectantly and anxiously and said nothing.

"How—how are you all?" he asked.

The Washburtons had known "the Latimer boy," or at least had known who the Latimers were, from the beginning of things. Gwen had always thought of Dick as awkward and uninteresting. But she did not remember him she reflectd, as being as bad as this. This was simply pathetic. What on earth was the matter with him?

"You came down yesterday?" she asked, making an effort to ignore his obvious agitation. "But then why — why didn't you come to Sheila's wedding? Dick, what's the matter? Is your mother ill?"

He looked at her, tried to speak, gulped. Then he walked quickly to the window, and Gwen, after watching him for a second, followed him there.

"Dick, what is it?"

"Oh, it's Sheila, it's always been Sheila!" he said grimly, between clenched teeth. For a moment Gwen stood perfectly still in amazement.

"What had I to offer her?" he said thickly, trying to laugh. "I've got a lot more intern years to do before I can marry! Even then I'll have to pay back a loan I got to help through medical school, and maybe mother to take care of. I'd have a swell chance at a girl like that!"

He was still staring out of the window, speaking as if he were talking to himself. Gwen, after a moment of stupefication, sought desperately for words of comfort.

"Dick, I am sure she never knew! I never dreamed it!"

"What, that I liked Sheila?" he said gruffly. "How would you? I never told her. I used to go into the library and watch her, when I'd be home week ends. I was taking my premedical work at Stanford then. She never looked at me. I was always borrowing books that I couldn't afford to buy, and she'd tell me I couldn't take them out three times in succession, and then she'd smile and say, 'Well, perhaps this once we can stretch the rule a little'!"

"I can hear her!" Gwen said, smiling.

"For three years I've thought about her. I've never thought about anyone else," the man said. "Every look — every word —

"Someone wrote my mother that she was going to marry Link Baker long before the wedding invitation came. I tried to stay away. I couldn't. I thought about her — laughing and happy and—"

He stopped again. Gwen did not speak.

MAY USE OLD DESTROYERS

President of U.S. Considering Recommissioning of Thirty-Five Vessels

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the United States Government was considering recommissioning all remaining first Great War destroyers, thirty-five of them, which are not yet in service.

At a press conference he said also that study was being given to the question of Government financing of plants for expanded production of defence materials, perhaps with the plants privately operated but Government-owned.

A short time before the President spoke Congress was asked by the War Department to remove completely the existing 6,000-plane limit on the army's air force, so that the military may work swiftly toward the goal of 50,000 air fighting machines set up by President Roosevelt in his defence message to Congress yesterday.

NEW LOCATIONS

In addition to all the other defence problems which the Government is considering, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference that attention is being given to the advisability of establishing in the interior of the country factories vital to defence.

That applies primarily to new branches of existing plants, he said, rather than to picking up those plants now operating and moving them from the seaboards.

Reporters remarked that most airplane manufacturing establishments now were located along the East and West coasts.

The War Department's recommendation was made to the House of Representatives' military committee by Brigadier-General L. D. Gasser, deputy chief of staff of the army.

Gasser testified at the hearings started by the committee to rush through necessary legislation to carry out the President's $1,182,000,000 defence programme.

NO PARTISANSHIP

The attitude of haste coincided with general approval expressed for the programme, approval which included that of former President Hoover, who said in New York that "there can be no partisanship upon the principle of national defence."

Although General Gasser gave no indication of how many additional planes the army might seek, he said the expansion "might be construed to include barrage balloons, if we adopted that technique."

A defender whose opening lead creates a "swing" of 3,580 points against his own team is either pretty poor at selecting or is extraordinarily unlucky. I leave it to readers to decide which West was in the following deal:

North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West

Pass	Pass

Considerable explanation is needed for South's remarkable bidding. On the surface it looks completely mad, but actually there was considerable method in its madness. This hand occurred as the next-to-last board of a team-of-four match in which this particular North-South team had had a series of unfortunate breaks against them. Their close doubles and questionable game bids had gone wrong until, at this stage, the South player had every reason to feel that his team must be trailing by well over 1,000 points. Hence it was not unnatural for him to feel that heroic measures were called for unless defeat was to be acknowledged. His two club opening bid, then, was an out-and-out psychic intended to confuse and trap the opponents. Naturally South could scarcely foretell what the result would be, but from his point of view it was highly desirable to throw the bidding off its normal course and pray for a miracle in his own favor. I might add that this miracle not only developed, but that it was a major, not a minor, one.

West, not vulnerable against vulnerable opponents, correctly lay in ambush during the first round of bidding, realizing that North would have to make some response to the two club bid. When the negative two no-trump came and was passed all around West's mouth must have watered, and his penalty double can scarcely be criticized. When this double reached South the latter decided he might as well "shoot the works" on this deal. To go down hundreds, or even thousands, of points would not be fatal; inasmuch as he was sure the match was already lost, and this looked like a heaven-sent opportunity to make a killing if North could stop the run of spades and clubs, or if the opening lead were favorable. From a strategic point of view (again emphasizing that his hand occurred in a team-of-four match) South's reasoning was flawless. The result, however, must have surpassed even South's wildest hopes.

East, called upon to make the opening lead, was a very unhappy player. His spade suit looked far from propitious. East knew that West must have clubs stopped, but his own length, headed by the queen, made a club opening unattractive. Conventionally speaking, West's double might be construed as calling for a lead through the only suit bid by the opponents, but as against this was the fact that South, who also must have read the message implicit in West's double, had redoubled the contract and presumably was prepared for a club lead.

I feel certain that my readers will be less tolerant than I, but I am not inclined to criticize East's actual selection of the heart ten too severely. My own feeling is that East was the victim of circumstances. But whatever can be said for or against the lead, the fact remains that the entire match was thereby handed to the North-South team on a platinum platter. Dummy ducked and West's queen was captured. Seven diamond tricks were run off, and then declarer collected three more heart tricks. Thus he not only fulfilled the remarkable contract, but made three overtricks at 400 points each, for a total of 1,980 points! It is scarcely necessary to point out that a spade or a club opening would have given the defenders nine tricks and 1,600 points in their own favor, a swing of 3,580 points. Perhaps East's lead was bad, but was it that bad?

TRUE TO FORM

Hitler was conversing with his head men when one of them remarked:

"I hear they're starting another campaign against malaria."

"And high time, too," snarled Adolf. "The way those Malarians have been treating our German minority is something terrible."

Men's Sport Pants $8.95

Of English Flannel, With Fancy Checks

The high quality of the material is one of the prominent features notable in these pants—while smart designing and faultless tailoring makes them most desirable and rather exclusive. There are white with small black checks, white with brown checks and light fawn with brown checks. Really something new and different in flannel pants. They are favored, we think, to take the place of plain white flannels, as they are definitely more serviceable. Made with plain front, zipper fly and turned belt loops. Waist, 31 to 44. Leg lengths to 34.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If May 18 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Guesswork is apt to be one of the leading causes of people getting into trouble today. Wise men and women will plan their activities in advance and will not undertake to do the impossible. Man's digestive organism is likely to be unnaturally susceptible to becoming upset today, especially through eating indiscreetly, hurriedly, or while mentally perturbed. It is very advisable to make every effort to control your temper and nerves today, for if you lose the former or let the latter get the best of you the consequences are likely to be far from pleasant. Overwork and fatigue from an excessive amount of social, athletic, or business activity, seems due to take a heavy toll from those who give no heed to what might affect their physical well-being. The sting of sarcasm may result in some form of reprisal that will be long remembered, so do not indulge in ironical or biting remarks, if you do not want to pay directly or indirectly for making them. Married and engaged couples, and those whose hearts are suffering from Cupid's tampering, might do well to realize that "quarrels would not last long if the fault was only on one side," so each party to one ought to admit their responsibility for it, and then be ready to kiss and make up.

If a woman and May 18 is your birthday your determination, good nature, and spirit of co-operation can, in all likelihood, be numbered among your most valuable assets. Through skillful handiwork, you may win a great deal of praise, and find yourself in a position to make a substantial income. To be successful do not let the smiles of fortune turn your head, for if you do you might find yourself looking at her back. You ought to be able to score a worthwhile record as a writer, teacher, composer, sales agent, department store buyer, restaurant operator, musician, or artist. True love will probably be responsible for your marriage and it will be the medium through which happiness and contentment is due to make your life well worth living.

The child born on May 18 has generally an aptitude for acquiring a diversity of knowledge that it will sooner or later put to good use. An active imagination may aid greatly and play an important part in the development of this youngster's future.

If a man and May 18 is your natal day, if you expect to go through life with flying colors do not try to be a Jack-of-all-trades, master one, and concentrate all your energies upon making a success of it. As a newspaper reporter, editor, fiction writer, publisher, printer, educator, theologian, agriculturist, horticulturist, engineer, lawyer, dentist, doctor, salesman, actor, or financier, your financial success may be assured.

PRETORIA, South Africa, May 17 (CP-Reuter's).—A minefield has been discovered off Cape Agulhas, the extreme southern point of the African Continent, the South African Department of Defence announced today. The department said it is dealing with the situation and several mines have already been exploded.
